Floyd Long of 39 DeWitt street is at the City of Kingston Hospital with a fractured skull and Gordon Core and John Banks are under arrest as a result of an automobile accident early this morning on the Ashokan boulevard near Learcraft's Inn.

The Ford roadster driven by Banks left the road, ran down into the ditch and then ran head on into the trucks along the road. Long was thrown out and seriously injured.

Two men passing saw the machine and picked up the three occupants and all were taken to the hospital where after being treated Core and Banks were taken to the county jail. Trooper Coons was notified and made an investigation and Sheriff Rice also went to the scene. Banks was so much under the influence of alcohol that the Trooper could not get his name until some time after the accident.

Banks, who drove the car, was charged with injuring a person while driving a car in an intoxicated condition. Core was charged with public intoxication and both will be arraigned later before a justice of the town of Hurley.

Thomas F. Ryan, Financier, Dies

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—Thomas Fortune Ryan, aged financier, died at his home here today after a short illness.

Death was attributed to advanced age. Mr. Ryan was 77.

The financier's fortune was variously estimated at from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000, and most of it was invested in tobacco stocks.

Thomas Fortune Ryan's career as a financier was mainly devoted to the consolidation and extension of street railway and electric light and power systems in New York, Chicago and other cities. About 1908 he resigned as the controlling factor on the directorates of more than 30 corporations retaining directorships in only three, the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio Railway, the Clinchfield Coal Corporation and the Guaranty Trust Company of New York city.

He combined politics with business and for years was a leading figure in the councils of anti-Bryan wing of the Democratic party. In 1904, when a delegate from Virginia to the Democratic national convention, he was said to have been largely instrumental in reconciling opposing factions to the acceptance of Judge Alton B. Parker, the nominee's, telegram declaring for a gold standard plan.

Born in Nelson county, Va., October 17, 1851, and educated in the public schools Ryan went to Baltimore at the age of 17 to work in a drygoods store. There he remained until 1870 when he came to New York and began work as a clerk for a Wall street concern. Four years later he became a member of the Stock Exchange. He became acquainted with William C. Whitney and for more than a quarter of a century had active charge of the latter's enterprises.

Another Phila. Official Quits

Philadelphia, Nov. 23 (AP).—Mayor Harry A. Mackey announced today that he had accepted the resignation of Harry C. Davis, director of the Department of Public Safety, and had appointed as his successor Lemuel B. Schofield, first assistant district attorney.

Davis's resignation was forecast when the special grand jury investigating bootlegging uncovered corruption in his department.

Since the start of the grand jury investigation, policemen, captains, inspectors and an assistant superintendent of police named "untid" to hold any public office by the grand jury, have been discharged or suspended. Some police officers have stood trial, charged with bribery and extortion, and are serving prison sentences. Schofield prosecuted many of these men.

Davis has been criticized for the condition of his department, and Judge Edwin O. Lewis, who began the grand jury investigation, strongly intimated that he should resign or be asked to resign.

Vestris Captain Shouted Orders as Ship Went Down

Federal Building, New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—A brief account of how Captain William J. Carey worked to the last with disorganized crew and fear-stricken passengers until he went down with the liner Vestris, was read into the record today at the federal inquiry into the disaster.

An affidavit by Edward Miller Walcott, a British citizen and a survivor, said the ship sank under him, but he regained the surface and saw Captain Carey five feet away without a lifebelt.

"After a second he disappeared," Walcott said, adding he last saw the skipper on the hurricane deck shouting directions for the loading of a lifeboat.

"His voice was so hoarse," Walcott related, "that it broke on the last cryer. That was just as the ship went down."

H. C. W. Johnstone, general manager of the Trinidad Leasehold, an oil producing concern, agreed with an observation by Walcott that the liner was listing when it left New York on a voyage that cost them one hundred lives.

Johnstone said he suggested that a delegation interview the captain.

"But nobody agreed with me," he added, "so the matter was dropped."

Johnstone said when the lifeboats were loaded "all previous arrangements were scrapped." "They simply huddled the women and children into the first boats with nobody to manage them."

Lionel Licorish, the Vestris's quartermaster, and one of the heroes of the disaster by reason of his having rescued 20 of the survivors after the ship had gone down, testified that after launching of the lifeboat had started, Captain Carey tried to veer the sinking Vestris around, to take advantage of the winds.

"But she was uncontrollable," he said. On previous trips last winter, Licorish said, the Vestris took on a list of 8 or 10 degrees because her cargo was not stowed properly.

Agents Raid Still At Lattingtown

Completely Equipped Plant Was Being Used to Re-distill Anti-Freeze Alcohol, Originally Intended for Automobiles.

Joseph Pasqual was placed under arrest Thursday afternoon when federal agents from the Kingston office raided a still at Lattingtown in the town of Lloyd. The raid was made by federal agents in cooperation with Corporal Norman D. Baker of the State Troopers.

The plant was a complete one, located on the John Weed farm, and was being used for re-claiming anti-freeze used in motor vehicles during cold weather. Anti-freeze or denatured alcohol is one of the most deadly forms of alcohol, containing among other things in the denaturing formula wood alcohol.

Descending on the plant the agents found a 1,000 gallon copper still and a 35 foot column with complete equipment for redistilling the anti-freeze. The plant was operated by a pressure steam boiler.

A large quantity of partially re-distilled alcohol was found on the premises in wooden storage tanks. There were four 750 gallon wooden tanks containing anti-freeze alcohol which was originally intended to be used in motor vehicle radiators but which eventually might have found its way to human consumption. The stuff which was found on the premises had been partially treated with various chemicals such as sulphuric acid, permanganate of potash, lampblack and other oils and chemicals. After thus being chemically treated and time allowed for chemical reaction the stuff was put through the still and re-distilled in an effort to take the poisonous denaturing chemicals and wood alcohol out.

There were a number of 50 gallon drums of anti-freeze also seized together with other materials. The still and all of the materials were destroyed by the agents on the premises.

The still seized on the Weed property Thursday was very similar to the one which the agents seized and destroyed last week in the town of Plattekill.

Hold Up Bank, Kidnap Assessor

Trafford City, Pa., Nov. 23 (AP).—Three robbers held up the First National Bank of Trafford City today and escaped with between $15,000 and $18,000. They kidnaped O. M. Kimmel, the borough assessor.

The robbers, all armed with pistols, entered the bank shortly after the opening hour. They forced Cashier L. A. Carlson to hand out all the cash in sight. Another member of the robber band was at the wheel of an automobile.

As the bandits left the bank, Kimmel, a patron, attempted to give an alarm. They seized him, rushed him into the machine and escaped.

S. L. Weyandt, a nearby druggist, fired several shots at the car but without effect.

In addition to Carlson and Kimmel, the only other persons in the bank at the time were Ruth Whitney, assistant cashier, and a clerk, Carlson said.

Court Affirms Hermance Verdict

Appellate Court Sustains Verdict for Mary L. Hermance of Ulster Park Who Was Injured When Bus Was Forced Off Road at Esopus.

The appellate division of the Supreme court has unanimously affirmed the verdict of the jury in an action brought by Mary L. Hermance of Ulster Park against the Globe Indemnity Company. Mrs. Hermance was a passenger on the Kingston-Highland bus on September 1, 1923, when the bus was forced off the road near Mt. St. Alphonsus at Esopus and several of the passengers were injured and others killed when the bus collided with a tree.

The action was first tried at the May, 1925, term of the Supreme court before Justice Rosch when an action was brought against Benjamin Seides of New York, who was alleged to have been the driver of the car which forced the bus off the road, and John A. DuBois, owner of the bus. At that time the late Judge James Jenkins with Floyd W. Powell appeared for Mrs. Hermance and Van Etten & Cook appeared for Seides while Mr. DuBois was represented by A. W. Lent of Highland.

At that time Justice Rosch dismissed the action as against Mr. DuBois when it was shown that the driver of the bus was free from negligence. The jury brought in a verdict against Seides. It then became apparent that Seides was insured against accident but the Globe Indemnity Company refused to pay the judgment on the grounds that Seides had never notified them of any accident as required under his policy. The case failed to stop after the accident and Seides claims it was not his car which hit the bus.

At the March, 1928, term of Supreme court before Judge Staley the plaintiff brought an action against the insurance company and the case was tried at that term. John W. Eckert and Floyd W. Powell appeared for Mrs. Hermance and A. J. Cook appeared for Ireland & Caverly, attorneys for defendant company. This trial resulted in another verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $6,038.88 against the insurance company.

The Globe Indemnity Company then took an appeal from the judgment of the court and the case was argued in the appellate division by Mr. Powell and the decision of the court has just been handed down. The judgment of the lower court is affirmed unanimously and Mrs. Hermance again is awarded a verdict in the sum of $6,200.

Mrs. Hermance also brought an action to recover damages for loss of services of Mrs. Hermance and this case is pending.

Engineer Blames The "Black Gang"

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—The Vestris might not have sunk if the "black gang" had stuck to their posts in the stokehold, said Chief Engineer James A. Adams, testifying today in the steamboat inspection service hearing at the customs house.

The volume of water in the vessel, he told Dickinson N. Hoover, supervising inspector presiding at the inquiry, was steadily maintained as long as they had steam but the stokehold crew deserted their posts about 10:30 on the Monday that the ship sank, some time before the bulkhead between the coal bunkers and the stokehold was broken. He said that water which got into the coal bunker, for some reason he did not know, caused the disaster.

The chief engineer testified the engines remained with him, but that the firemen were on top and in the alleyway. He said he reported to the chief officer and some came down, but he did not think they remained. He said that there was no serious danger until 11:30 when the bulkhead of the coal bunker gave way.

Asked by Walter F. Brown, assistant secretary of commerce, whether he thought "the mutiny of the black gang largely contributed to the loss of the ship," the chief engineer replied:

"I most certainly do."

Stock Exchange To Close Saturday

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—The board of governors of the New York Exchange today voted to close the exchange on Saturday. Offices of exchange members, however, will remain open.

Governors of the New York Curb Market also voted to suspend trading tomorrow.

Closing of both markets will enable member houses to catch up on bookkeeping badly delayed by more than a week of heavy trading on which daily total sales exceeded $900,000 shares. It will also afford a rest from the frenzied activity on the floor and for office employees who have labored far overtime every night.

Trading on both the stock and curb markets broke all records for total sales for the first two hours today, 2,418,400 shares changing hands between 10 and 12 o'clock on the stock market and 1,422,500 shares on the curb.

Banton Promises Full Details in Rothstein Case

Declares File Had Yielded Him All He Needed From That Source—Detroit Police Hold Three Men For Questioning.

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—District Attorney Banton said today that the files of Arnold Rothstein, slain gambler, had yielded him all he needed "from that source" about Rothstein's murder.

The information, he added, was obtained yesterday from the mass of papers left by Rothstein. Mr. Banton declined to give any details, but promised to make public soon full details of the case. He gave the impression that the news he planned to give out would clear up the mystery.

Two of Mr. Banton's aides who had been assigned with federal narcotic agents to go over the papers were taken off that investigation yesterday because, Mr. Banton explained, the examination of the documents, totaling nearly 60,000, was too fruitless a labor.

Hold Three in Detroit.

Detroit, Nov. 23 (AP).—Police announced today they are holding three men for questioning in connection with the slaying of Argold Rothstein, millionaire New York gambler, who was shot to death in the Park Central Hotel.

Two of the three, Harry Lewis, 30, and Edward Friedman, 25, first arrested as robbery suspects, were driving an automobile bearing New York license plates. Detectives said two loaded revolvers licensed in New York were found in their car. A street address on a slip of paper in Harry Lewis's pocket led to the arrest of John Lewis, 29, and a woman who said she is the wife of Harry Lewis. The men told police they had been in Detroit for two months.

Search for the Rothstein slayer was begun in Detroit yesterday, police said, as a result of a tip from a former New York underworld character that the killer was in hiding here.

Whitney Estate Sets New Record

New York State Will Receive $15,000,000 in Estate Taxes—Value Greatly Increased Since Time of Whitney's Death.

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—The largest estate ever appraised in this country was on record today—that of the late Payne Whitney, financier and sportsman. It totaled $194,328,514.

The estate exceeds by nearly $90,000,000 the gross value of the estate of Mrs. Anna Harkness, which previously held the high record. It also will pay the largest death tax ever collected, $20,000,000. Of this amount $15,000,000 will go to New York state, $400,000 to other states and $4,000,000 to the federal government.

That the state appraisal was a low estimate of the Whitney wealth was pointed out in financial circles where attention was called to stock being listed by the appraisers at their market value on the day he died, May 25, 1927, whereas prices since have greatly increased.

Shares of American Telephone and Telegraph, appraised at $8,426,397, would at yesterday's price be worth well over $9,750,000, and shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey appraised at $34,533,358 would at yesterday's price be worth $49,933,369.

Other appraisals of large estates follow:

Henry C. Frick, $52,953,552.

Colonel John Jacob Astor, $87,212,791.

J. Pierpont Morgan, $78,140,024.

William K. Vanderbilt, $54,539,966.

William L. Harkness, $54,387,146.

Frederick G. Bourne, $42,857,615.

James Stillman, $40,335,121.

Oliver H. Payne, $32,367,474.

Joseph R. Delamar, $32,282,920.

Frank W. Woolworth, $30,791,604.

Finds $1,000 Pearl In Opening Clam

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP).—Clam openers in this city were inspired to feverish activity today by the lucky find of one of their fraternity, who will split the proceeds of a pearl valued at $1,000 with the proprietor of a sea food restaurant.

Patrons and waiters crowded around Edward Ryan when his gasp announced the discovery of a pearl weighing nearly five carats and perfectly triangular in shape. A jeweler declared its quality and shape may bring $1,000. It has been shipped to New York for appraisal and sale.

Illness of King George Serious But Not Alarming

"Slight Extension of the Mischief In His Lung," Says Midday Bulletin—No Messages Sent to Prince of Wales or Duke of Gloucester.

London, Nov. 23 (AP).—King George, ill with a lung trouble that developed from an ordinary cold, was able to obtain a little rest this afternoon. At the palace it was stated that this fact was considered a hopeful development.

A man in close touch with royal circles was quoted this afternoon as saying that the King's illness, although serious, should not be regarded as in any way alarming.

It was announced officially today that there was "a slight extension of the mischief in King George's lung."

This bulletin on the King's condition was issued at Buckingham Palace at midday.

"The King passed a restless night, his temperature remaining at 101. There is a slight extension of the mischief in his lung, but His Majesty's strength is maintained."

The bulletin was signed by the King's physicians, Sir Stanley Hewett and Lord Dawson of Penn.

Constant Stream of Visitors.

There was a constant stream of visitors at the palace throughout the forenoon. Among the early arrivals were Dr. Friedrich Stahmer, the German Ambassador, Frau Stahmer and Princess Louise, the Duchess of Argyll. The Duchess spent a short time with Queen Mary in her apartment.

There was another crowd outside the palace all morning anxious for news from the royal sick room.

The palace guards were mounted and changed as usual but without crowd. This caused some in the crowd to wonder uneasily what this meant until it was explained that the guard at Buckingham Palace is always mounted without music when weather conditions are bad.

It is understood that no messages regarding the King's condition have been sent to the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Gloucester in East Africa. It is said, however, that the matter might receive attention shortly.

The Duke of York, who spent last night at his hunting box at Naseby, returned to London by train this forenoon.

When the Duke of York arrived at the London station it was noticed that he looked somewhat worried and after a short chat with the station master entered a waiting motor car.

Premier Baldwin Goes to London.

Premier Baldwin left Glasgow this morning for London and under the present arrangements will spend the week end at Chequers but will be accessible should there be any necessity for his presence in connection with the King's illness.

It was learned that members of the household of Buckingham Palace are not unduly alarmed or anxious about the King's illness. His majesty was said to be quite cheerful and members of his immediate suite also were cheerful.

The Duke of York received a report of the King's condition this afternoon and intends returning to Northamptonshire tomorrow.

Save Six of German Steamer

London, Nov. 23 (AP).—The Valencia wireless station announced today that a Lloyd's radio message from the Danish steamer Estonia said that she had saved six of the crew of the German steamer Herrenwyk. The Herrenwyk was in distress about 645 miles west of Ireland.

The message from the Estonia read: "Saved six of the crew of the German steamer Herrenwyk" last night. Increasing wind and darkness made further work impossible. Hoping to save the remainder of the crew at daylight. Northwest gale, heavy seas and squalls."

The names of the official party and officers and sailors were spending part of their time preparing Christmas greetings for persons at home. The Rochester is expected to reach the United States about December 8.

Hoover Studies Conditions in Latin America

And Sketches Various Addresses He Plans To Make as Maryland Year—Her First Port of Call—See Vantage Has Apparently Benefited President-Elect.

U. S. S. Maryland, en route to Annapolis, Maryland, Nov. 23 (AP). With the Maryland coast the famous water her first port of call on Herbert Hoover's road will turn, the president-elect today was devoting himself to a study of conditions in Latin America. He also was sketching the various addresses he planned to make.

The Maryland was running into choppy seas that it had encountered earlier on the trip south from San Pedro, California. Mr. Hoover appeared to enjoy the changed conditions, as he is a good sailor and has been through storms in many seas of the world. Mrs. Hoover also is accustomed to the sea and seemed to like the voyage equally with her husband.

Mr. Hoover appeared on deck in a dark double-breasted coat with white shirt and trousers. Mrs. Hoover wore a light tropical dress. She spent some time on the quarter deck in a stamer chair knitting and watching a golf game on an improvised teeing board.

Although Mr. Hoover will visit only one capital in Central America, he will be greeted by the presidents of all four republics on which he will call from Sunday to Tuesday. At Annapolis, Honduras, and La Union, Salvador, he will meet on Sunday the chief executives of those two countries. He will travel from Punta Arenas, Costa Rica, to the capital, San Jose, on Tuesday.

Elaborate Celebration in Nicaragua.

On Monday Mr. Hoover will be greeted at Comito, Nicaragua, by President Diaz, President-elect Moncada and former President Chamorro. He will remain there during the day and an elaborate reception has been planned in the country where American Marines have been preserving order, supervising an election and training a national guard. President Diaz will be succeeded by General Moncada on January 1, after which it is expected that the Marines will be gradually withdrawn, although both Liberal and Conservative leaders have expressed a wish to the United States government that the Marines again supervise the election four years hence.

General Chamorro was president at the time of the signing of the Bryan-Chamorro treaty by which the United States for $3,000,000 acquired an option on a canal route through Nicaragua and on naval bases on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Mr. Hoover is much interested in the canal rights as well as in building up the country and improving its relations with the United States.

Mr. Hoover is likely to spend an equal amount of time in each of the capitals of Argentina, Brazil and Chile and it seemed probable that these stops would be more than a day in duration. The American ambassadors to these three countries have been urging a longer stay.

Mr. Hoover feels that he must complete his tour early in January in order to have time to dispose of a multitude of questions concerning his forthcoming administration and the preparation of his inaugural address.

Benefited by Sea Voyage.

The sea voyage apparently has benefited Mr. Hoover. He seemed to have been rested by it and more and more was showing a carefree, happy mood to those about him. Those close to him said he was enjoying the complete relaxation that is possible on shipboard after his long months of campaign strain.

Members of the official party and officers and sailors were spending part of their time preparing Christmas greetings for persons at home. Christmas cards especially prepared by the ship's supply department were available and had on them a photograph of the Mariland. They will be sent to the United States on the cruise of the Mariland which will meet the Mariland somewhere along the route to Panama. The Rochester is expected to reach the United States about December 8.

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—The New York Herald Tribune says a move to offer the presidency of the American Petroleum Institute to President Coolidge at the institute's annual meeting in Chicago December 2-5, has been started by officials powerful in the industry.

The New York Times quotes R. B. Ford, Jr., assistant general secretary of the institute as saying: "The names of President Coolidge, General Pershing, Vice-President Dawes and Owen D. Young have been suggested in this connection but nothing has been done about it, so far as I know, the institute and, so far as I know, the matter any consideration has not been given."

The American Petroleum Institute is the national trade organization for the oil industry. Heretofore the president has been selected from within the industry. E. W. Clark of Los Angeles being the incumbent.

Byron Paltridge and Marguerite Smith were business callers at Poughkeepsie on Wednesday.

There will be special service at the M. E. Church on Sunday morning. This being the Thanksgiving service, the Junior Choir will render selections and there will be three recitations appropriate for the day. Thanksgiving will be observed at Plattekill Grange Saturday evening. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock to members only. Entertainment committee, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dance at Ruby.

The B. & C. Club will hold a confetti and balloon dance at the Ruby Hotel Saturday evening, November 24. This promises to be a gala affair as these dances always are. A large number of Kingston people always attend these dances and the management hopes to see many more Kingston people Saturday night than before as all are invited. The music will be furnished by the Ruby serenaders.

STILL ON THE JOB.

Dispatches from Palo Alto and Washington state that Mr. Hoover, while authorizing no comment, "let it be known" that he did not see in advance Mr. Coolidge's Armistice Day address which resulted in so much discussion at home and caused ill-feeling as well as surprise in Europe. The curious investigators of this matter are said not to have been able to learn whether the President-elect sympathized with the substance or tone of what the President said. It appears, however, that after a re-reading of Mr. Hoover's speech of acceptance it was thought that, though he is strong for preparedness, he would hardly have chosen to adopt Mr. Coolidge's "note of complaint and aspersion."

This rather remarkable inquiry and discussion would seem to overlook the fact that Mr. Coolidge is still President of the United States and will continue to be until the fourth of next March. As such, why should he submit that speech, or any speech, to his successor? It is altogether too soon to assume the attitude expressed in the age-old cry, "The King is dead, long live the King!" There is a marked tendency, in effect, to do this prematurely, and it is not altogether unlikely that this noticeable tendency may partly explain why Mr. Coolidge put so much "pep" in and made so "peppery" his much discussed utterance—with a view to make both his own country and Europe sit up and take notice of the fact that he is still in the White House and can still speak as the President of the United States. Obviously no high official relishes anything suggestive of a tactful acknowledgment that he is a back number when several months of power are still within his grasp.

PRODDING THE JUDGES.

From time to time it is stated that the United States Supreme Court is far behind in its business with small chance of catching up, and it is widely supposed that the work of the highest court is too heavy for its members to cope with. It is also supposed that the long delays in the lower courts are mainly attributable to the same cause in an era of increasing crime and the multiplying litigation of expanding business interests. No doubt this is a large part of it, but according to Supreme Court Justice Cropper, speaking in Brooklyn, there is another cause of no small importance. Declaring that "no authority exists anywhere to make judges work, and the courts are hopelessly behind everywhere," he called for "a boss over our judges who will see that they do their work," and said further: "Today the presiding justice assigns us to our posts, but if we fail to go to those posts and work as we should he can not do anything. I am now assigned to the court in Long Island City, but if I wanted to spend the month playing golf I could do it and there would be absolutely no one who could make me go and spend the amount of time I should on the bench."

Is this, indeed, one of the chief reasons why justice is so "leaden-footed"? Agreeing that it is, the New York World comments: "Justice Cropper tells the plain truth. There is no one to make judges work. Human nature on the bench is still human nature. Long vacations, short sessions, many days off, these are the chief reasons for court congestion. It is useless to talk of increasing the number of judges until a careful study is made of the amount of work done by the present incumbents. Justice Cropper's statements are a challenge to the local bar associations. They should not be allowed to pass unheeded."

Japanese railways have recently observed "Kind Week". During that period all porters and other station employees were instructed to "wear permanent smiles, put luggage down gently, and bow every time they were addressed." American travelers like pleasant service, but this is going a little far. They would be made nervous by that persistent bowing. There was more to "Kind Week" than this, however. Two hundred thousand leaflets were distributed among passengers, asking them not to be hard on railway employees. In other words, patience, gratitude, appreciation for special service, and cheerfully given orders were to inspire the permanent smiles and reward the gentle handling of luggage. This may sound a little too good to be true, but really the nervous wear and tear of catching trains or boats or buses could be greatly reduced if everybody involved practiced kindness a little more frequently.

A correspondent of the New York World doesn't like these short days and wants them lengthened by an official decree of two hours' daylight saving in winter. But he is not more astonishing than the vast numbers of persons who propose to legislate virtue into the human heart and send people to heaven by legal enactment.

It is predicted that Mr. Hoover will skip the smaller Latin-American countries and that these, being pridefully "touchy", will be offended. However that may be, he can hardly give the time and undertake the exhausting travel necessary to pay a call at the capital of every Central and South American republic.

The incident of the ill-fated Vestris shows that, in spite of the radio and all the other marvelous modern inventions, grim tragedies of the sea are still and may ever be possible.

SAFE AND SANE REDUCING.

Once in a while you see an advertisement showing a well built woman with one beside her thin and scrawny. The picture is advertising a preparation to increase weight. However for every one of such you are likely to see ten advertisements advertising preparations that will reduce the weight.

In other words, there is no question now but that as a people we have awakened to the fact that the present weight of adults, middle aged folks in any case, is fifteen to twenty-five pounds above normal. Now what about this reducing business?

It is certainly gratifying that we recognize the fact of this overweight and are attempting to do something about it, but the method employed by many individuals is a great mistake from a health standpoint.

They will attempt to live on a little fruit juice for a goodly period of time with the result that the entire system, including heart, blood, and blood pressure, get near and even past the danger point. There have been a considerable number of cases of collapse from this method.

And yet this method of fruit juices, used intelligently and moderately, along with other means, can be of great help in getting off weight. Other methods, such as the use of preparations containing thyroid extract, are positively dangerous, except in those few cases, one in a hundred, where the ductless glands are not doing their work completely.

The Presbyterian Hospital in New York, recognizing the need of reducing weight in these overweight folks, took over the treatment of 600 cases within a period of a few weeks.

Two hundred patients have reported an average reduction in weight of fifteen pounds, and in all cases exercise and dieting have been the twin reducers.

The exercise prescribed is a daily walk of two miles within three quarters of an hour, not a loitering walk, and ten minutes morning and evening devoted to calisthenics.

As regards the diet, it was simply a matter of reducing the intake of food to two-thirds or three-quarters of the former amount, cutting down perhaps even a little more on starches and liquids.

The results were most gratifying from a health and enjoyment of life standpoint, aside from all the weight loss.

These cases were under supervision of Dr. Bauman. Remember, there is no royal road in reduction. The above method is the only one that is safe and sane.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

Nov. 23, 1908.—The lunch wagon of Stephen Connors at Broadway and St. James street was badly damaged by fire.

The close of the golden jubilee of St. Peter's Church was held in Washington Hall.

Mrs. Robert Henry died at her home in Port Ewen.

Nov. 18, 1928.—Second Lieut. William A. McBride was in base hospital at Ellis Island with a slight fracture of the skull. Was on the way to France when tossed through an open hatch on board ship.

Mrs. John M. Churchill died at Esopus after a long illness. Theodore C. Whitcomb and Lillian R. Gray married.

Dr. Charles C. Froude and Dr. Mabel H. Hall married at Washington, D. C.

Word received that Private Bernard I. Cragan of Chapel street was dead in France of influenza.

THRIFT

True thrift is not merely a matter of saving. It is a principle that is applied constantly in the practical problems of life. It brings immediate results.

We used to be told that matches were made in heaven, but nowadays most of us use those newfangled lighters.

America was discovered in 1492. Previous to that time there were no lost and found columns in the newspapers.

Sillicus—"I am quite convinced that silence is golden." Cynicus—"Sometimes it can be bought with a piece of silver."

DECORATIVE DON'TS

Do not place wall brackets informally in a formal room.

Do not use overhead lights that throw unbecoming glare.

Do not use too many shapes of colors of lamps and shades in one room.

In a strictly period room, do not use lamps or wall brackets of other periods.

Beware of using green or blue lamp shades, as they diffuse a hard and unbecoming light.

Consider the occasion of the moment and do not neglect to arrange the degree of light accordingly.

Do not use indirect lighting exclusively as it is frequently necessary to have light concentrated in one spot.

The comfort of a room depends largely on its lighting, so do not fail to arrange lamps for comfort in reading.

Do not use figured lamp shades on figured lamps unless the designs are corresponding in feeling and the colors harmonious.

Arrange the illumination so that there is sufficient soft light evenly diffused. Do not try to light a room so that it looks like a hot sunshiny day.—House and Garden.

CAT HOUSES—A New Kind

Hub: "So you've finished the story? Did it end to suit you?"
Wife (disgustedly): "I don't know. The reading time is given as 18 minutes and 10 seconds and my time was up before I could find out whether they married or not."

"It is my idea," said a Kingston man, "that the time finally comes when shaving one's self every morning becomes life's most distressing obligation."

We are told of a girl who is so good that she won't even stay in a room with a clock that's fast.

Being a tailor's daughter evidently gave her the license to be the village cut-up.

Making a fool of a man is one job woman can beat nature at.

Yardsticks used to be the most important part of a teacher's outfit, but today it's lipsticks.

Eggad.

A fair young girl dounced her way into the Ellenville bus and sat down in the only remaining seat beside a young man. "Pardon me a moment, but—" began the young man, but the sentence was cut short when the young girl gave him an icy stare. Some time passed, and the same process was repeated. Finally the man mustered up his courage for one blow and said, "I don't care whether you like it or not, but I want that package of eggs you've been sitting on for the last half hour."

Sleeping on a proposition is good if you don't sleep too long.

Rather shady, isn't it?
The owner of a small store whose premises had been burned met a friend.

"A terrible affair! I am ruined. I am ruined! I just stood there helpless, watching it burn. My face got white, white, white—white as your shirt."

Then looking at his friend's shirt, he added, "Whiter."

Mr. Billerton, the butcher, was a jovial soul. As he was cutting up an order of lamb chops for a lady customer, she asked curiously: "Mr. Billerton, what led you to choose your present occupation?"
"Well, really, I don't know ma'am," explained Mr. Billerton. "Maybe it was because I have always been fond of animals."

SPECIAL SUNDAY SERVICES IN RURAL COMMUNITIES

Special services will be held at the Tongore M. E. Church, Olive Bridge, Sunday, November 25. The pastor, the Rev. Otis Rice, who has been convalescing at the parsonage this past week since coming home from the hospital, is expected to be present. The Thanksgiving sermon will be preached by the Rev. Robert Baines, preacher from St. James M. E. Church, Kingston. The musical numbers for this service, which commences at 10:30 a. m., will be rendered by Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Wood, the evangelistic singers from Kingston, who were present three weeks ago and whose selections were very thankfully received. Mr. and Mrs. Wood will use the following numbers at the Olive Bridge services: "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer" and "The Songs My Mother Sang". At 3 p. m. a similar service will be held at Samsonville M. E. Church and these very pleasing evangelistic singers will render "Ivory Palaces" for the anthem and the offertory number will be "When Day Is Done". A cordial welcome awaits all who attend either of these services and many are expected on this Thanksgiving Sunday.

STONE RIDGE
Stone Ridge, Nov. 23.—The state road is nearly completed and now open to traffic. It is evident the road will be a very busy one in the future and many are already speeding on it. Mrs. E. K. L. Abernethy has been spending a few days with Miss Addie Belle Conner. The Rev. Mr. Munsee of West Park has been newly appointed as rector of St. Peter's Church in this village and is well liked by the parishioners. The motorists have been enjoying the wonderful autumn weather. There was a fine attendance at the dance at Grange hall last Friday evening. Deputy Sheriff P. W. Wells has been court officer at Kingston during the recent session of court. Ray Wood, who lost his barn by fire the past summer, has his new barn well under way. Miss Phoebe Brink and mother recently entertained relatives from Summitville. Miss Kate Clearwater of High Falls and Preston Avery of this village were married the past week and their many friends in this place extend best wishes. Edward Bush is building an addition to his garage on Main street. The Methodist and Methodist Churches are planning for a busy winter with their various suppers, fairs and socials.

Green Street Man Highly Endorses The New Health Tonic

Great Herbal Medicine, Dr. French's Nu-Erb Again Gets Credit For Bringing About Amazing Results.

If you suffer from indigestion, gas in stomach, weakened kidneys, backache, rheumatism, sluggish liver, constipation, nervousness or need a good tonic to build you up, then you should heed the advice of so many others and use Dr. French's Nu-Erb, the herbal remedy, which is being introduced in Kingston at McBride's Drug Store, 312 Wall Street. Mr. Frank Hornbek, a well known rooming house proprietor of 121 Green street, Kingston, N. Y., has the following to say about this splendid compound: "I was suffering continually from indigestion and gas in my stomach after every meal. No matter how careful I was of what I ate I had that awful distress in my stomach from which I could get no relief. Undigested food would come up in my throat and I was never free from heartburn, biliousness, dicky spells and floating spots before my eyes. My kidneys were weak, causing a pain across my back and they disturbed me many times through the night. I couldn't sleep soundly, would get up in the morning feeling all tired out and had no energy to do my work. I was also a chronic victim of constipation. "No medicine ever helped me to speak of until I started using Nu-Erb a few weeks ago. It has relieved the gas and other distress in my stomach. I am not troubled with that choking feeling or heartburn. My kidneys and back are stronger. Most times I sleep the whole night through without being disturbed. I have a better appetite than I have had for years. My nerves are stronger and I feel better in every way. I will gladly recommend this medicine to anyone suffering as I did." Nu-Erb tones and regulates the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels and drives poisonous waste matter from the system. McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall street, is headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now located there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Nothing Like New Blood Treatment To Knock Out Rheumatic Pains

Name is Alkine and Local Druggist Offers Every Sufferer Chance To Try It On Money Back Plan.

For ten years I have suffered horrible torture from rheumatism that I contracted when in the trenches. I didn't know what a good night's sleep was—and how I lived through the days of agony is beyond me. I couldn't get a bit of help no matter what I tried, but when the announcement was made that Alkine conquered rheumatism pains through the blood—that sounded like sense to me and I tried it. I tell you I'm like a new man—not a sign or twinge of pain. Alkine has opened up a different world to me.

The manager of McBride's (3) drug stores, local distributors of Alkine, says: "When people make it a point to come in and tell of the wonderful benefits they get from Alkine—I say it's time every man and woman suffering from rheumatism quit standing in his or her own light and give this really remarkable preparation a trial. In the name of common sense, how can they hesitate? If there is any doubt at all in their minds after they use a bottle that it isn't helping them more than anything they ever tried—all they have to do is to come in and say so—and every penny they spent for it will be returned."

You'll have to clear the blood of excess acids and poisons if you ever expect to get lasting relief from rheumatism pains and aches. Alkine supplies marvelous elements that act to neutralize and carry off the poisons through natural means. The relief, the benefit you get even from one bottle, should be enough to convince you. Get it today and remember that McBride's (3) Stores will refund your money if you are not absolutely satisfied. Sold at McBride's (3) Stores and all good druggists. Get a bottle today.

How Weak Nervous Women Grow Stronger

Feel Better, Look Younger and Have Steadier Nerves

If you only knew—you rundown, anemic women—who are dragging yourself around on your "nerves"— what a wonderful increase in strength and health Tanlac will give you, you wouldn't hesitate a moment about going to your druggist and getting a big bottle of this splendid medicine.

Mrs. Garner C. Thompson, of 26
Grand View Terrace, Rochester, N. Y., says: "I was subject to bilious spells and sick headaches. My blood was thin and my food wouldn't digest. After six bottles of Tanlac, my sick headaches are gone, my appetite is very good and I have gained 14 lbs."

Tanlac is as free from harmful drugs as the water you drink—only Nature's own medicinal tonic herbs. Druggists know this and for the past 10 years have recommended it to men and women who need a quick "pick up" that will put them on their feet and give them a new interest in life.

So confident are the makers of Tanlac that if you are not helped by it, you get your money back on request.

WHEN DAY IS DONE

AT the end of a long day of romping and frolic comes the children's bathing hour, prelude to the journey to Slumberland. Active little bodies, flushed and warmed from the excitement of play need the sanitary effects of hot water before bedtime. A soothing, hot bath quiets excited nerves and brings on peaceful drowsiness. Grown ups, as well as youngsters, enjoy the comfort of hot water at night.

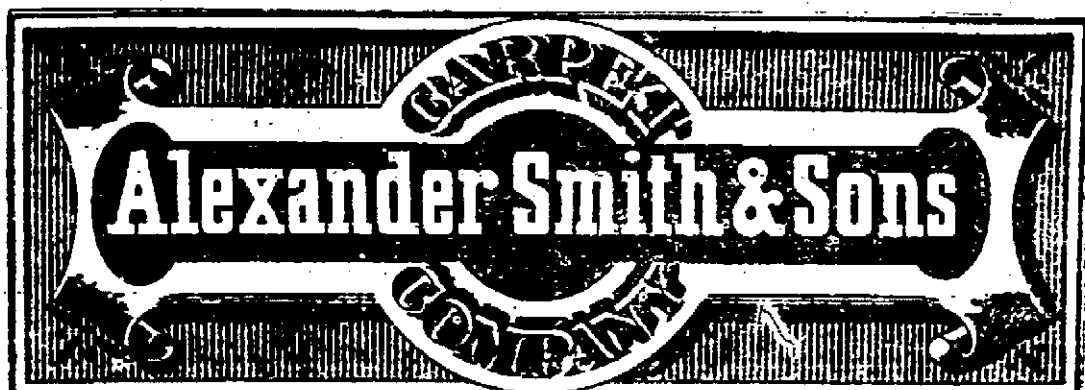

There are so many needs for hot water in the modern home that a constant supply is necessary.
There must be no waiting for water to heat. Stored up, ready when you need it,—hot, comforting, plentiful,—that's the only real hot water service.
With a gas storage water heater hot water is always ready—for dishes, laundry, and as many baths as there are people in the house. The supply is dependable, automatic—you don't run down stairs to start the heat. When you turn the faucet hot water is there—and at very moderate cost.

Objected to Viewing

What He Was Missing

Vincent S. Sear, traveling correspondent for a number of magazines and a chain of newspapers, was commenting on prison life in different countries. "In China," he says, "the tortures meted out to criminals for various offenses have made people execution his welcome. Indeed, the executioner is called 'the messenger of mercy.' Yet, I sometimes wonder if Oriental methods are not really more kind than those of the so-called reformed penal institutions in America. "Once, I was talking to a convict in a large American city. I told him how it was in China. Then he said, 'Here I am, in for life, and once a week I have to go into the prison movie theater and what do I see? Travel pictures.'"

Masterpiece Ruined

There is a legend to the effect that Ludo Vico II Moro, the husband of Beatrice D'Este, commissioned Leonardo da Vinci to execute "The Last Supper" on the walls of the refectory of the convent of the Santa Maria della Grazie, in Milan. The commission was given to the great artist almost in the sense of an expiration of sin. It was occasioned by Ludo Vico's grief over the death of his young wife, whom he had treated unkindly. The painting is now practically wrecked, largely due to the fact that the artist was experimenting in the media which he used. In Napoleon's day a door was cut in the wall beneath the painting and a large portion of the center of the mural was cut away.

Realm of Thought

The term "transcendentalism" is a vague one which was applied to the philosophy of the group of American writers which centered about Concord, Mass. between 1830 and 1850. Ralph Waldo Emerson was the best known of them, while Thoreau, Channing, Alcott and Margaret Fuller were other well-known members of the circle. The transcendental philosophy might be briefly described as the belief that man reaches his fullest development by fixing his mind upon the highest and noblest elements in life and overlooking the mean and sordid phases. "As a man thinks, so is he." The modern cult of the New Thought derives much of its doctrine from transcendentalism.

Bible in Cracker Box

The British and Foreign Bible society has published an important edition of the Scriptures in the principal language of Uganda. The volume is very long in shape, but it is only three inches wide and about three inches thick.

A peculiar reason occasioned the adoption of this form. In Central Africa the white ants and other insects rapidly destroy a book unless it is well protected. The representative of the society mentioned that the edition mentioned he issued in a form that would fit into the tin biscuit boxes which are used in Uganda.

SAMSONVILLE

Samsonville, Nov. 22.—C. Bannard and wife of Kingston spent a few hours with their aunt, Mrs. M. J. Bannard, on Sunday last.

F. Barringer is spending a few days in Kingston.

Mrs. J. Van Kleeck and sons, David and Ralph, visited Mrs. Van Kleeck's brother, I. Barringer, on Sunday.

The funeral of Ira Bell of Palen was held in the Samsonville M. E. Church on Tuesday at 10 a. m. There were a number of out of town friends and relatives in attendance. The Rev. Mr. Cooley of Kerkirausk officiated. He spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family from John 14.

The Thanksgiving service will be given by Mr. Baines from Kingston Sunday, November 25, at 2 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Wood will be there to sing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bannard are spending a few days at the home of their son, Flora, at Bayard street, Port Ewen.

F. Haver and wife were callers at Kingston on Tuesday last. Fred is the lucky hunter of this place. He has shot two bears already this season.

All are glad to hear the pastor, Mr. Rice, has returned to his home from the Benedictine Sanatorium, where he spent several weeks during his illness.

"More than power," says Model 40. "Range and selectivity. Notice how sharp and clear every station is." "Good tone, too," admits the sceptic. "But how long can you keep up performance like this?" "I'm a modest chap," answers Model 40. "You'd better ask that question of the nearly 2,000,000 families that own Atwater Kent Radio. But remember one thing: I'm 1929 improved all-electric radio. "What's more, I'm lower priced because I'm the most popular set in the world. And what's still more, the current I use from the light socket costs only a fraction of a cent an hour." "Send it out to the house," says the man from Missouri. "I'll take it." Now, Model 40 wants to talk to you. Say when.

Mrs. Tellegen Wins Divorce

Los Angeles, Nov. 22 (AP).—A letter from Mrs. Tellegen, in which she declared that she was "living with someone else and intended to continue to do so" was an interlocutory decree of divorce here yesterday for Mrs. Isabel Craven Tellegen, third wife of the once prominent actor.

Mrs. Tellegen, who also was the custody of their four-year-old son, testified that her husband's infidelity had caused her much pain and unhappiness. Prior to last August, when she received the letter, Mrs. Tellegen averred, her husband then had accused her of associating with other men.

The letter introduced by Mrs. Tellegen said:

"In answer to your letter of last week I can only admit that the truth is that I have been unfaithful to you with several women, the time and place doesn't matter. Who they are you could find out but that can make little difference to you.

"The fact remains that I am living with someone else and intend to continue to do so. You can let me know how you feel in the matter and what you intend to do about it."

Decided in Columbus, Ohio, that the divorce had been granted, Tellegen said:

"Fate guides us; we cannot guide fate."

"Why should I hold her when we no longer love each other as we did five years ago when we married? She is young, only 25. It is utterly foolish for us to be unhappily bound together when life is so short. Over the past two years there has been a misunderstanding. I thought it best that she be released."

Tellegen's second wife was Gertrude Farrar, the opera singer. The actor recently filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy here.

Chevy Employees Enjoy Venson

Thursday evening the Colonial City Chevrolet, Inc., local agents for the Chevrolet automobiles, gave a dinner to all of the employees of the organization at Von Berg's restaurant on Wall street. The dinner was a very decided success, especially which "Dick" Gross and "Sporty" Gormley of Phoenixia, two of the Chevrolet salesmen, provided venson for the crowd. The two mighty hunters from Phoenixia who were responsible for the venson were given a very hearty welcome when it was announced that they had provided that portion of the menu.

After the serving of the dinner the members of the organization had so greatly enjoyed the affair that it was decided to form a social club and hold monthly meetings and outings. Jerry Martin was selected as president of the social club and Mrs. Hazel Baker was named as secretary and treasurer. They plan to hold monthly meetings and outings throughout the year.

The entire Chevrolet sales force will be taken to New York Saturday where they will visit the display of new six cylinder Chevrolets at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. A social time will also be a portion of the trip to New York after the cars have been viewed.

Doyle Gets Electrical Contract.

T. J. Doyle, electrical contractor of 188 Broadway, has been awarded the contract for electrical wiring of the new eight-family apartment building erected at 181 Washington avenue. This apartment will have all the latest improvements and the electrical work will be modern and up-to-date in every respect. The plans and specifications for this apartment were prepared by Augustus Schrowang, architect of Main street.

Size and Efficiency

In airplanes, increase in size decreases relative efficiency. The freight load that a plane can sustain in proportion to its weight is less as the size of the plane increases. The reverse is true of airships. Every increase in the size of the airship means a decrease in the amount of horsepower required for each passenger.

Strangest Migration

This is the season of the return of the caribou to Alaskan feeding grounds. These animals travel in a huge circle below the arctic, visiting their feeding grounds once a year. Seven million animals are in the herd.

More Deep-Sea Sailors

At the present time there are more men sailing the seas than there were 20 or 30 years ago, although there are now fewer sailing vessels. This decrease is more than made up by the increased number of steamers.

Elks Promise a Good Time.

There promises to be a good time for everybody who attends the Elks' informal dance for members of the order and their friends at the Elks' club on Fair street, Wednesday evening, November 23. Music will be furnished by a six piece cabaret singing orchestra, and Earl, dancing team, and a quartet will be at the event. Elks and friends who intend to be at the dance must make reservations on or before November 22.

No Expenditure for Ice

A natural cold storage plant, which has been a boon to the reindeer industry at Elephant Point, Alaska. A tunnel was cut for 100 feet into an immense glacier, then a shaft was run up through the top for circulation of air. Several individual chambers or rooms were gouged out of the ice to hold in cold storage about 5,000 reindeer carcasses to await the arrival of refrigerator ships to transport the meat to Seattle.

Police Force Too Small, Says Chief

Tells Hi-Y Club That Ratio Should Be One Policeman to Every Six Hundred Inhabitants Instead of One to One Thousand.

At the Hi-Y meeting held Wednesday night, Mr. Hall told the young men about the football banquet to be held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on December 5. The principal speaker will be "Chief" Mehan of New York University, and also there will be entertainment by others from New York University.

J. Allan Wood, chief of police, was the speaker of the evening. He addressed the young men on the interesting subject, "Police." The first part of his talk was given over to a brief history of the Kingston police force. He said that with the coming of the automobile the work of the police department increased rapidly. The population of the city is about 30,000 so that the ratio is one policeman to every thousand inhabitants as the laws require. He said he thought that it was too great a ratio, that it should be one to every six hundred.

Then he told of the policeman's duty which is "to preserve the peace." He said that the life of a policeman is not pleasant. It demands a lot of tact, skill and courage. He closed his talk by saying that the police department needs the strong arm of the good citizens to support them in their work of preserving the peace.

President Shader said that because so many graduates of high school in college would be home for Thanksgiving a meeting will be held next week so the young men can come once more to the Hi-Y meeting.

Zones in Space Where Silence Is Absolute

When rising from the earth's surface, the air becomes lighter and more rarefied. All of its components decrease in amount; at 20 miles up there is little or no oxygen and the density of the air at that altitude is about one one-hundredth that at the sea level; at 50 miles, the nitrogen ceases, and there is practically no water vapor above five miles. Above 25 miles the air is too rare to transmit sound and absolute silence there prevails. As the air is very rare at that altitude, and as no notes or dust are there, the light waves pass almost unobstructed, and there is nearly total darkness and absence of all color; the temperature, too, is very low, probably approaching that of outward space, this region is then one of dark, cold silence. The fact, however, that meteors sometimes become luminous at the height of 100 miles and more, shows that there is an atmosphere of some sort at that height, probably hydrogen, helium or kindred unknown gases.

Rival Lovers Submit to Cruel Punishment

A quaintly wild custom for the capture of young maid's hearts has survived in the Sudan down to the present day. Where it is a case of two young men enamored of the same girl, they subject themselves to the "mobatanab," a love test of a savagely cruel nature.

The rivals fall down blows on one another's backs either with a whip or stick, the weapon having been agreed upon by them in advance. The one who bears up the longest under the punishment takes home the bride and receives the title of "Achu-el-Banat" (Brother of the Daughters). Although these contests have been prohibited by the police, they continue to be held in secret.

New Kind of Disease

It was at one of those Sunday dinners that only Hoosier mothers can prepare. Every one proceeded to eat too much, as is usually the case on such occasions. At last Uncle Otto, refused the sixth—or maybe it was the ninth—helping.

When urged to partake of cake and dessert, he declined with the tactful remark:

"It looks mighty tempting, but I have limitations."

Hearing this, William, his nephew, age seven, asked:

"What kind of disease is that, Uncle Otto?"—Indianapolis News.

Famous Italian Caves

Italy claims to have the two deepest subterranean caverns in the world. The deepest is the famous Abisso del Pretta, near Verona, and the second deepest is the cave of Verco, near the River Isonzo. Hitherto both have remained practically unexplored, but the Alpine society of Julian Venetia recently led an expedition to the bottom of the cave of Verco. The mouth of the cave is 1,900 feet above sea level and the depth from the mouth to the lowest pit is about 1,700 feet. The cave contains several lakes and streams.

Tides Within Earth?

Edmund Haller was the first to note the decrease in the spinning rate of the earth, and Sir George Darwin, second son of Charles Darwin, ascribed this phenomenon to the friction produced by the tides piling up on shore and dragging across the bottom of shallow seas. That, however, would account for only two-thirds of the aggregate loss of speed, and Professor Boss believes that the difference can be ascribed to the existence of similar tides within the earth as well as in the ocean.

Williams Writes Book on History

Franklin B. Williams, former Kingston High School student, is the author of "Middlesex," a history published Wednesday by Lawrence A. Teece and said to be the only intended publication of the kind in Orange county history. The volume contains about 200 closely filled pages of pleasing typographical appearance and is bound in dark red cloth. The book contains a history of Middletown from the time that it was a wilderness up to the present. Whitlock Press of Middletown printed 1,000 copies of the book, 500 of which were subscribed to before publication.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—H. Garrison Silver, 3d, of Park avenue, and Miss Adelaide Blossom of Greenwich, Conn., have been married to each other twice in three years. They eloped when the girl was at school. The marriage was annulled. After they became 21 there was a church wedding with members of the families present.

Cleveland—Anella Earhart of the air is heart whole and fancy free. "But you never can tell; if I was sure of the man I might get married tomorrow," she said in explaining that she no longer was engaged to Samuel Chapman of Boston.

New York—At 25 Zelma O'Neal, actress, has had three husbands and two divorces. When she married Anthony Bushnell, English actor, it was disclosed that Zelma Farne Schraeder of Rockford, Ill., had been Mrs. Reginald Buffington of Chicago and Mrs. Henry Burns of Chicago.

Madrid—Senora Mercedes Abols de Vallesoro, wife of a professor in the University of Madrid, is the first woman to be chosen to the Spanish academy.

Chicago—The general council of the Presbyterian Church has appointed a committee to consider the question of granting women the right to be pastors and elders. Members of the council at a meeting here expressed informal approval of women's demands.

Denver—Rendered almost blind ten years ago by a blow on the side of the head, Alberta Colson, 18, has found herself able to read after receiving a similar blow. When she was eight years old she fell on frozen ground. Recently her head struck a piece of furniture at home.

Philadelphia—A tract of land on the Mount of Olives facing Jerusalem is to be made into a garden for prayer. It has been given to the Travel Institute of Bible Research by a woman who prefers to keep her name secret. It is planned eventually to make a Protestant Bible study center there.

Freehold, N. J.—Mrs. Christina Walling of Fort Monmouth has refused to send her sons to school on the ground that the Bible forbids it. Fined $5, she said she would prefer to go to jail. She was given a day to pay the fine.

Harrisburgh, Pa.—Arthur Stoner, captain and fullback of Edison Junior High School, intends to play on crutches tomorrow. Under the rules he must take part in another game to win a third school letter. Right after the kickoff he will be replaced.

New York—The noiseless airplane seems to be in sight. The Fairchild Aviation Company announces that a new Maxim silencer reduces the roar of an air-cooled motor to a hiss.

Needlewomen in China Ply Trade in Street

China is perhaps the only country in the world where one may have his garments mended on the street while he waits. In nearly all the chief cities of the country native sewing women are to be seen seated on low stools, perhaps on the sidewalk, mending articles of masculine wearing apparel.

The accomplishments of these street seamstresses are somewhat limited, their efforts with the needle being confined, as a rule, to "running." Other branches of needlework are virtually unknown to them. As a consequence their efforts are better appreciated by natives than by foreign travelers.

They are never short of patrons among the Chinese tradesmen, for these are often natives of other districts, and having come to the city to engage in business have no one to mend a rent for them. Their wives being left at home, they are glad to employ the street needlewomen. For this class of customers the skill of the itinerant sewing woman answers every purpose.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for the kindness shown at the time of the death and funeral of wife and mother. We feel especially grateful to the W. F. R. Company.

LOOKING BACKWARD ONE FINDS THE BOLEROS—SOME NOVELTY GLOVES.

New York.—The bolero theme seems by no means exhausted. One finds it charmingly interpreted in advance spring models, which after all follow closely on the lines of winter successes.

Boleros like all else one wears are liked best when irregular. It is no longer surprising to find a bolero at one side only, subtly changing to bertha or panel at the other. It is likewise not extraordinary to find a bolero at the back, a development in accord with the prevailing idea of glorifying the costume at this point, and so making it worth turning around to see.

Lace boleros are recurrent in most collections designed for southern resort wear, lace being a much wanted media for dresses in a 6289. A dotted print was selected for this little one-piece dress; with broadcloth for the facings. Cotton or wool rep, wool georgette, jersey or flannel are also desirable materials. The design has a comfortable sleeve with raglan shoulders, and finished at the wrist with a ruffled heading, quaint and girlish. A shaped plastron or facing meets the collar at the center of the front. The fullness of the dress is held with a straight belt and is slightly bloused.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. To make the dress for a 10-year size will require 3 yards of 27-inch material together with 1/2 yard of contrasting material for facing on collar, plastron and belt.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by The Freeman for our up-to-date Fall and Winter 1928 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies' misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dress-making, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

On Rearing Children

from CRIB TO COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of "CHILDREN," The Magazine for Parents

Fresh air is as necessary to nutrition as food.

As children grow older and recreation takes the form of parties and dances, it becomes a problem to keep them from snatching too eagerly at the new delight and turning honest fun into dissipation. It is a wise rule to allow this sort of recreation only on Friday and Saturday evenings. A proper amount however, should be encouraged.

Let your child splash his water colors with the new vividly colored paints and model his unbelievable fancies in clay. Out of his first-hand experience with the raw material of art is apt to grow a genuine appreciation of that which is great and enduring.

Every child has the same right to have all his talents exercised as to have all his limbs developed. A talent will often lie latent for years because the possessor is never brought into contact with the environment which would bring it out. Children ought to be put into possession of all the possible means of expressing talent—musical instruments, color, tools and materials suitable to their age. They should also have access to the society of people of all ages, and those differently situated from themselves to bring out any talents they may have for social living, for leadership, or for politics. They should be brought into contact with every possible kind of work. Merely seeing things done will often call forth the latent aptitude which the parent or teacher has never suspected.

A shy child while playing alone often works out original ideas for games and stunts which would help to entertain a whole group if he could be persuaded to present them. Help him to develop some special proficiency or skill, so that when he is thrown with others the consciousness of this skill will become a valuable asset in overcoming his timidity.

Is your child's appetite good? If not, it is because:
He eats between meals.
He is finicky in his choice of foods.
He is physically or mentally over-tired.
He takes too much liquid and "feels full" quickly.
He is indoors most of the time and inactive.

Pays the Debt Through His Nose

Hartings, Texas, Nov. 23 (AP).—Bill Williams, who was a Smith man and backed his political convictions, finished paying through the nose yesterday when he rooted a peanut across the snout of his "big push" from Rio Hondo, eleven miles away.

50-Acre Farm Produces 3 Million Eggs Yearly

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception was good Thursday evening with a number of seldom heard DX stations available. Among these were CFRB at Toronto and WTLF at Toccoa, Georgia. There was less fading and local interference than has been usual recently and volume was very strong. But there is as much station interference as ever and down in the jungles of short waves little is to be had except the squeals and roars that one might expect in a jungle. Until half the stations are silenced there can be no real improvement in reception.

A program devoted to the music of George Gershwin, composer of the "Rhapsody in Blue," will be presented in the Chevrolet Hour of the General Motors Family Party on Monday evening. Mr. Gershwin himself will play a number of his selections on the piano. In addition, songs from his musical successes will be sung by the Chevrolet quartet and Lewis James, the popular radio tenor. Other Gershwin numbers will be played by Phil Ohman and Victor Arden, the two-piano team, and by a concert orchestra under the direction of Frank J. Black, who has arranged all of the composer's most successful musical comedy scores.

Many selections that have found favor on previous programs will be included in the Stromberg-Carlson program of November 30, from 10 to 10:30, through WJZ and associated stations. Among these request numbers will be "The Rosary" offered as a guitar solo, "Humoresque" as violin solo, and "Uncle Ned" sung by the quartet. Other numbers new and old round out this program by the Stromberg-Carlson male quartet and three instrumentalists.

"The angel of the battlefield," as Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross, is known is to be the subject of the Soemylund Sketch on Tuesday night. This subject has been selected in an effort to cooperate with the annual Red Cross Roll Call which is now being conducted. Clara Barton's story, from the time of her birth on Christmas Day, 1821, in the village of Oxford, Mass., not far from Worcester, until her death in 1912, is a long and amazing epic of activity and accomplishment.

Fear Civil War In Bulgaria

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 23 (AP).—The police guard protecting members of the cabinet was doubled today in the fear that Ivan Michailoff, leader of the belligerent faction of the Macedonian Revolutionary party, might carry out threats to march on Sofia with his consorts and murder certain ministers he designated by letter.

The entire country was apprehensive lest Bulgaria might be plunged into civil war if Michailoff became more aggressive. A violent conflict between opposing political factions before the club of the Agrarian party last night added to the fears of the people. Brisk fire was exchanged between the factions before police intervened and arrested many of the belligerents.

Athanas Buroff, foreign minister, in a statement to the Associated Press made a dramatic appeal to the United States to rescue Bulgaria from its present internal crisis. It was felt generally that Bulgaria's pitifully small army would be almost powerless to cope with a widespread uprising. King Boris, who has striven constantly to bring about peace, was deeply disturbed at the acts of terrorism that have occurred.

Hundreds of families, fearing murder at the hands of Macedonian desperadoes, were fleeing toward Sofia from Petrich where Michailoff had his headquarters. Reports were current that Michailoff himself was in Sofia, at the bedside of his wife, Mencia Carnicu, who is dying of tuberculosis. Mencia Carnicu in 1925 was found guilty of the murder of Tudor Panizza, an alleged Balkan desperado, who she killed in the National Theatre in Vienna on May 8, 1925.

Because of her precarious physical condition she was released by the Austrian authorities. She returned to Bulgaria where Michailoff proclaimed her his heroine and married her. She is credited with having devised many of her husband's revolutionary and terrorist acts.

Foreign Minister Buroff in his statement said:

"I fear that if we do not soon secure relief, either through the United States or Europe, Bulgaria must slowly bleed to death. Let the great United States, to which six million Bulgarians look as a guardian of small nations, answer. As the richest, most powerful and most influential nation in the world, it will be impossible for the United States to play the role of passive onlooker in the face of the tragedy which threatens Bulgaria."

"Will not the United States save us before our peasants, crushed with taxation, reparations and the high price of the necessities of life, are forced to embrace Bolshevism?"

M. Buroff said that the succession of terrorist acts by illegal Macedonian bands which had occurred recently were the indirect result of the "crushing terms imposed upon Bulgaria by the post-war peace treaties."

Rickard Thinks Stribling Will Be Next Champion

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—Seven of the wealthiest sportsmen in the United States, clad in immaculate evening dress, dined behind closed doors in the exclusive and comfortable chairs of the private offices of Tex Rickard, in the closed doors of the famous rowing club in the thrills of two smashing hockey games were producing on Rickard's head in the heart of Madison Square Garden. As directors of the Garden they had just presented to the New York Rangers the Stanley Cup, emblem of the world's professional championship, and their work was done for the evening.

They talked of hockey and then of fights and out of the discussion came a word of the next heavyweight champion of the world. Each wrote his choice on a slip of paper, tossed a large wad of bills or a check into the hat and agreed that the one who had chosen the ultimate winner should gather up himself the entire "pot."

But stranger of all were the choices. Tex Rickard, whose name heads all the rest when it comes to the moulding of champions, placed his trust and money on the husky frame of young Stribling, a young heavy-weight from Macon, Ga., and ignored the possibilities of the one man he idolizes as a fighter—Jack Dempsey. It seemed to the rest almost a breach of friendship, an admission behind locked doors, that the old Manassa Mauler never again would draw on six-ounce gloves, despite the ballyhoo that presages another comeback.

Dempsey had a supporter in John McEntee Bowman, hotel magnate. Tex warned him that Jack might never return to the ring; that he had no direct knowledge on the subject; that the odds on Dempsey were regaining the title Gene Tunney discarded were long enough without adding to the uncertainty that surrounded the former champion's plans. Still Bowman took Dempsey.

When the list was made up, it was found that James I. Bush, the traction magnate, also favored Stribling to win recognition as the next heavyweight king. Bush and Rickard therefore were paired in their entry, and each posted the required fee, Walter Chrysler, who makes automobiles, chose Knute Hansen, the melancholy Dane, along with Colonel John Hammond, president of the Rangers Hockey Club.

A former heavy-weight and arm, friend of Gene Tunney, Bernard Gimbel of department store fame, places his hopes and dollars on Paulino Uzcudun, the bounding Basque from Spain. Richard Hott, a Wall Street banker, chose Jack Sharkey, while Richard and Bush, still competing as a team, took the "field"—all the remaining heavy-weights—on the payment of four times the individual wagers.

K. H. S. Plays at Spring Valley

The Kingston High School Varsity squad will wind up its gridiron season Saturday when the Maroon and White eleven plays the Spring Valley team at the latter's gridiron. The Spring Valley team, beat the Peconic M. A. by a score of 22 to 0. Kingston also beat Peconic but the locals didn't run up such a big score. It was 12 to 0.

The two squads evidently are well matched and Kingston must put up a good game in order to win from their Spring Valley opponents. "Buck" Sears, one of Kingston High School's gridiron warriors of years ago, is coaching the Spring Valley eleven. His team so far this season has been successful.

Coach Kias worked his men hard Tuesday and Wednesday nights but Thursday evening he gave them a night off in order to let them rest up after two hard drills. Wednesday night the coach put his men through their final scrimmage of the season. The varsity squad scored seven touchdowns while the second string team failed to cross the final white line for a score. If the varsity squad displays the brand of football against the Spring Valley team Saturday that they did against the second string team undoubtedly they will return with a win.

Every detail concerning tonight's fights at the armory is completed and fans may expect one of the flashiest shows ever put on by National Guardsmen in the drill shed ring. The scrappers, especially Vince Coffey and George Deschner, who will do their stuff in the main six round set, are in the pink and ready to go, so things look bright for a full evening of fist entertainment, which will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Captain E. C. Lawson of Battery B, First Battalion, 156th Artillery, has the following card to offer fans who visit the armory tonight:

Vince Coffey of Kingston vs. George Deschner of the New Jersey Coast Guard, main bout, 6 rounds.

Nick Zinna, Kingston vs. Joe Haley, Newburgh, 6 rounds.

Joe Starr, West Point, vs. Charlie Handford, 359th Infantry, 6 rounds.

Ray Halvorsen, Newburgh vs. Sammy Scarietti, 106th Infantry, Brooklyn, 6 rounds.

Dewey Van Buren, Kingston vs. Mickey Parkus, Newburgh, 4 rounds.

Kid McNaughton, Newburgh vs. Andy Young, New York city, 4 rounds.

Judges for tonight's fights are Bill Singer of Singer's Service Station on the Strand and Fred Havighorst of Walk Miller's Health Farm, Eddyville. Samuel Riber, regular announcer will do his turn in the ring. Richard Malone will be at his post with the gong and George Hepburn, one of the peppiest and most pleasing referees ever seen in Kingston, is expected to be the third man in the arena tonight.

Yale-Harvard Clash Saturday Will Draw Crowd

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—No matter what has happened to the Yale-Harvard football clash during the season, the annual Yale-Harvard clash is an outstanding gridiron event. Tradition, extending back to 1875, score was tied and broken many times. It has made it that and the same track by both teams.

The sons of Eli have taken the short end of the score three times from Army, Maryland and Princeton, while John Harvard has bowed to Army and Pennsylvania and played a drab scoreless tie with Holy Cross last Saturday. However it is in the books that it will be a close hard fought game, as it always has been, and the big game of the week.

Princeton, defying tradition to play Navy a week after the Yale game, may provide something to detract some interest from the Yale-Harvard struggle. The Tigers and Midshipmen have put on a good many hot mid-season clashes and there is no indication that the change in date will affect the game appreciably. Princeton still is undefeated, although tied twice, but Bill Roper has found numerous reasons to complain of the difficulties of taking on a team as strong as Navy a week after the traditional season's end battle.

So far as eastern or national championship honors are concerned, the game between undefeated Carnegie Tech and New York University at Pittsburgh heads the list. With lines of almost equal strength the outcome of the battle seems to have narrowed down to the questions of whether Carnegie can maintain the high competitive pitch that enabled it to score so decisively over Notre Dame and whether N. Y. U. can shake Ken Strong free of the Tartan defense for a few of his brilliant open field runs.

Dartmouth already has started west for its big intersectional shot against Northwestern in Evanston, the home town of its coach, Jess Hawley, and its captain, Dick Black. Hawley, who again is not certain he can get away from business to handle his coaching duties next year, hopes to make sure of a good end for his career if it does not end by winning the last game of a good season.

Port Ewen Five Beat Hupmobiles

The Knights of Pythias of Port Ewen beat the Hupmobiles at the Port Ewen court Thursday night by a score of 49 to 28. The Hupmobile team got the jump on the Port Ewen team early in the first quarter but the Knights soon began to out the loop of the Saturday of which it is played, and before the first period ended the Tradition, extending back to 1875, score was tied and broken many times.

It has made it that and the same track by both teams. At the end of the quarter the Port team led and they held the upper hand throughout the rest of the battle. In the second quarter the Hups seriously threatened to take the lead but failed.

The Hupmobiles were minus their coach, "Bob" Corrigan, in the game and perhaps this had something to do with their overwhelming defeat. In previous games the Hups put up a better floor game. The Port Ewen squad had wonderful defensive work. Stumpf made two field goals and a foul point when the game was under way but a short time and after some time was spent by both teams trying to work the ball under the basket, Van Etten scored a field from the left side of the court with a one-handed toss. Short in quick succession also scored the hoop for a two-point and Van Etten then made a foul shot which tied the score 5-5.

Wonderly, the Hups' pivot man, came to the rescue and dropped a device which broke the deadlock only to be tied again in a few minutes by Hyatt, who was jumping on the toss for Port Ewen. The score was now 7-7. Joyce made two free tries good. Van Etten scored and from then on the Port Ewen team took the lead and held it. When the first period ended the score was 13 to 7.

The second quarter was started but a short time when Wonderly was sent from the game with four personal fouls against him. Shultz then shifted into center. Following this Smith collected all his points which were beside his name when the game ended. He made a shot from scrimmage and two from the 15-foot line, adding four more points to his team's score. Van Etten then made an unusual shot when he tapped the leather in from then on the Port team made them fit and plenty and when the half ended the score was 26 to 17 with the Knights well in the lead.

Important Grid Battles Saturday In Pennsylvania

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—The state of Pennsylvania gets more than its share of gridiron battles tomorrow. National interest will be focused on the clash at Pittsburgh between Carnegie Tech's Titanic Tartans and the Violent Violets of New York University. Out of this mixup may come a survivor well justified in demanding at least a major part of the mythical crown that awaits so-called national football champions.

Carnegie, boasting a heavy and fast line, a brilliant set of backs in Harpster, Karris, Letzelter and Moorehead, a great ball carrying end in Rosenzweig, and a tricky offense used with rare judgment by Harpster, is favored to turn back Chick Neehan's Violets, although the latter have been beaten only by Georgetown. Carnegie's chances of victory seem to lie in stopping Ken Strong, main spring of New York University's attack and the highest scoring back in the country.

At Philadelphia, Princeton meets Navy. If Bill Roper has succeeded in convincing the Tigers that this battle is a climax and not an anticlimax, Princeton should win. Those experts inclined to back Navy are influenced largely by the fact that they believe Princeton, to all intents and purposes, closed its season with the victory over Yale last Saturday.

Pennsylvania has five other battles to offer tomorrow. Davis and Elkins will seek to pin a defeat on Villa Nova at that unbeaten team's grounds. Lafayette and Lehigh meet at Easton. Lafayette is favored to win. At Carlisle, Bucknell meets Dickinson while Drexel and Temple are battling St. Joseph's and Washington College respectively at Philadelphia.

If the other states in the eastern sector can not offer so large a number of games they need not how to Philadelphia in the quality of those they do have.

Chandlers Cancel Excelsior Game

Instead of opposing the Excelsiors Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. court the Chandlers will take on the Schenectady Broadway M. E. champions of the 1928 upstate city Senior Church League. This tilt is scheduled for 8 o'clock and undoubtedly will be witnessed by a record gathering of fans.

Previous to the Chandler-Schenectady set, the Y's Men's quietest and Comforter aggregation will clash. This battle is set for 7 o'clock on the dot.

MEMBER-AMERICANS DEFEAT CLINTON INTERMEDIATES. In a hotly contested battle the Hebrew-Americans won their second game of the season by defeating the Clinton Avenue Intermediates at the Downtown Jewish Community Center Wednesday night. The score at first half stood 15-4 in favor of the Clinton Avenue Intermediates but as the second half progressed the Hebrew-Americans were making baskets from all angles of the court. The good defense which the Hebrew-Americans had was also evident in this half. Levine and Farber garnered the most points for the Hebrew-Americans making 7 and 6 respectively while Roosa and Myers were the leading scorers for the Clinton Avenue Intermediates making 9 and 8 respectively.

Guiding Destinies of Nebraska

The three men who guided the destinies of the Nebraska football team in their games this year. They are, left to right, Blue Howell, Coach Ernest Bears and Elmer Holm. The two players are player-captains, Nebraska having the two-player captain rule. Both are stars and are sure of again landing berths on the all-Western team as they did last year.

Stagg Wants Amos

in Proper Place

Amos Alonzo Stagg, sixty-six-year-old gridiron coach at the University of Chicago, is a stickler for accuracy whether in playing football or writing about it. To start the season, he shattered the old war cry that "Stagg fears Purdue," declaring it was just a newspaper man's way of saying he respected Purdue.

Now he is out with a request that the world know that his name is Amos Alonzo Stagg. Frequently it is printed "Alonzo Amos" or "A. Amos" or "Alonzo A."

That's wrong says Stagg—and he wants wrong made right.

Yellow Jackets
Please Preston

The Yellow Jackets went through a practice session Thursday night which greatly pleased Coach Carl Preston and another rehearsal to-night will wind up the locals' preparation for their arid argument with the Schenectady Royals at the Kingston Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon.

All of the Kingston griders with the exception of Johnny Clorne are in good condition. Clorne, who in last Sunday's game received a deep gash over his eye that required three stitches, will be in the battle against the Royals, however, for he is a man of sterling grit.

Coach Preston and men who have seen the Yellow Jackets practice this week have great hopes for a Kingston win next Sunday. It is anticipated that a large number of fans who enjoy good football will turn out to see the all-home team buck the strong aggregation signed by Managers Brooks and Craft.

M. E. TEAM OF PORT EWEN
ORGANIZED FOR GAMES

The Port Ewen M. E. Sunday school five organized for the basketball season Wednesday night. This quintet came out second in the Sunday School League for the past two years and expect to eclipse their finishing record this year. This collection of basketballers will take on teams of this vicinity during the season. Managers interested in booking the Port Ewen team should call D. Tanne, whose phone number is 1769-R.

The humane society ought to stop football, for they couldn't have a pig-skin without skinning a pig.

The Washington and Jefferson team of 1929 will be lighter than any team of Presidents for several years.

There are bad golfers and very bad golfers, and good golfers and very good golfers, and Bobby Jones.

We are in favor of playing the Yanks hereafter on a 100-acre quarter section and giving the outfielders a horse.

Lessons are three odd, printed things in books, which the large left tackle notices now and then between Saturdays.

What is so irksome as to have some obscure eleven come to town and relieve your overemphasis in the first game of the season?

Not Willing to Give

Yale Boys Back a Nickel

Bruce Caldwell, the former Yale baseball and football star, was assigned to a room with Jim Duffy, a young pitcher, when the two lads joined the Cleveland Indians in Chicago last summer. The Cay was one of those hot Chicago ones and Duffy was called on to pitch to the batters in hitting practice and it had him down.

He was not feeling his best that evening when a group of Yale graduates came around to the room to call on Caldwell. But they got him into a little game and he did not fare so badly.

When the party broke up, the Yale enthusiasts decided on a little football song as a farewell to Caldwell. Duffy is a railroad brakeman in the winter time and football stuff is not in his line.

The end of the song was this: "We want our halfback—we want our quarterback."

It was too much for Duffy. "Get the h—l out of here," he cried, "and I'll not even give you a nickel back."

Dependable Husker

Hank Russell, well known tackle among Nebraska opponents of past two years, Russell weights 200 pounds. He is finishing his third year on the team and is regarded as the most dependable lineman on the Husker team.

Pacific Coast League
Star Sold for $75,000

Verification of the reported sale of Roy Johnson, speedy outfielder of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league, to the Detroit Americans for $75,000 was given by officials of the San Francisco club.

The deal was one of the largest for a single player made by a minor league club to a major outfit in years. The transfer was made on a cash basis, with the privilege of accepting two players from Detroit.

Johnson, one of the fastest and surest outfielders in the circuit, was developed in two seasons by the Seals after being picked up from the winter league in 1926. His home is in Tacoma, Wash., where he formerly pitched semipro ball.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Nov. 23 (State Department of Agriculture and Markets).—Spinach was in very generous supply on the local wholesale district today, and prices slumped drastically in a market entirely in the buyers' favor. Virginia was the chief source of supply. Bushel baskets of the savory variety jobbed out at 35-40.

Arrivals of Western New York cabbage were rather light. Trading was a trifle more active and values strengthened. White Danish cabbage in bulk changed hands at $35.00-42.00, principally $40.00 per ton. One year ago state cabbage realized $14.00-15.00.

Cabbage shipments during the preceding week from this state filled 445 cars as against 848 for the corresponding week last season.

Receipts of state apple were limited. Fancy fruit met a moderate outlet in a steady market. Western New York McIntosh U. S. Grade No. 1, 2 1/2 inch pack wholesale at $12.00 per barrel. Rhode Island Greenings of the same grade and size brought $5.00-6.00 and various other kinds ranged from $3.50-6.00.

Although a trifle better feeling prevailed for white potatoes, possibly on account of the more favorable weather, trading was again slow and price changes small and unimportant. Sales on Western New York round white potatoes in bulk were made at principally around $2.00 per 150 pounds. Long Island Green Mountains ranged from $2.25-2.75.

The demand for celery was more active and the market ruled stronger, particularly on fancy stock. Supplies from the western part of the state were moderate. Two-thirds crates, of celery in the rough peddled out at 3:00-3.75 for the good to fancy and $1.50-2.75 on poor to ordinary. One year ago celery from this state brought $1.25-2.50.

Carlot shipments of celery from New York during the previous week amounted to 291 cars, as compared with 445 for the same week last season.

Cattle Industry Now Recovering

Stimulus to Increased Production Seen in Increased Feed Crops.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A stimulus to increased production of hogs, cattle and dairy animals is seen by the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, in the increased feed crops this year.

Live stock producers, including dairymen, cattlemen, hog and sheep raisers, says the bureau in a report on the agricultural situation, are in relatively good shape, with the presumption that live stock prices and the prospective feed situation may stimulate increased production of animals.

Cattlemen already are beginning to enlarge their herds, the bureau reports, but some time is required to produce and raise steers, and to get heifer calves grown into milk cows. Meantime there is more or less widespread complaint among consumers over the increased prices of meat, particularly beef and veal.

Meat Price Situation. The current meat price situation "is inevitable," says the bureau. "For six years, beginning in 1920, the cattle industry was flat on its back, with western cattlemen going bankrupt on all sides and their stock almost without market value. It is doubtful if this country ever witnessed a more acute case of distress in its agricultural industries than this depression in cattle."

"Slowly and painfully the cattle industry liquidated its surplus, reduced its breeding herds, and is recovering from its financial wounds. The consuming community was told again and again that the outcome would surely be a period of cattle scarcity and high prices. Now we are up against that period."

Abundant Feed Crops. Discussing the crop situation, the bureau says:

"The feed crops are abundant, grain being decidedly more so than last year. Moreover, in spite of its late planting it made such rapid progress during the summer as to be fairly well matured before the first frosts. The eastern corn belt, which had almost a failure of the crop last season, has ample corn this time, whereas the southern states are estimated to have about 14 per cent less corn than last year."

"Oats are a decidedly heavier crop this season than last. The September 1 estimate indicating nearly 300,000,000 bushels more. This abundance of feed grains, coupled with a hay crop of about average size, will tend to strengthen the position of the live stock industries during the coming year."

Some recession in purchasing power of farm products in terms of other commodities is reported by the bureau. The index for August being placed at 89 as compared with 100 in June and July, the five-year period, 1900-14, being used as a base of 100.

Clean Ground

There is another side to the clean ground proposition. In order to avoid disease, farmers are putting hogs out on pasture and are thereby in some cases giving their pigs a better balanced and a better growing ration than they have had before. Forage crops of various kinds are being substituted for the sort of blue grass pasture that dries up and is of no particular benefit to the pigs in late summer.

FARM STOCK

MANAGEMENT OF ANY BEEF HERD

Profitable beef production commonly depends upon the grade of herd and the use of a good, preferred bull, managed so that each generation of cows selected is an improvement upon the preceding one. In order that this may be true the best heifer calves should be kept each year to take the place of barren or dry-breeding cows. All other calves produced may be sold either as weanling calves at six to eight months old, as stockers or feeders at one or two years, or finished as baby beef at from sixteen to twenty months, or as fat steers at an older age.

Small farms in a high state of cultivation and where large quantities of feed are produced may be stocked with breeding cows to their greatest carrying capacity and the calves disposed of at weaning time or fattened as baby beef to advantage. In that way practically no cattle other than the breeding herd are maintained, whereas if the calves were carried over as stockers and feeders to older ages more feed and pasture would be required. This practice is often found to be very profitable. If, on the other hand, a limited quantity of feed is produced on a farm of this kind it would be more profitable to sell the calves at weaning time to men who make a specialty of feeding that kind of cattle for the market.

Breeders who operate large holdings where extensive pastures are available and feed enough is grown to carry the calves through winter as stockers often find it more profitable to carry them to an older age and get more weight per head.

If in either case a certain method for disposing of calves is adopted, more than likely it will become necessary to vary from that method occasionally on account of changes in conditions. Unfavorable years for growing feed may make it necessary to sell the calves at weaning time. Also, on farms where it is intended to carry the calves over as stockers, pastures and winter feed crops may be cut short by drought or some other unforeseen condition, making it necessary to dispose of the calf crop earlier than usual.

Minerals for Range Cattle Are Required

A shortage of phosphorus in the ration often causes cattle to have depraved appetites and even to become lame and emaciated. This trouble may be remedied cheaply and quickly by the use of sterile bonemeal, spent bone-black mixed with equal parts of fine salt and kept before the cattle at all times. A daily feeding of one to two parts cottonseed meal or cottonseed cake also proves effective in the ration of cows.

A fatal disease known as "loin" disease was found by Dr. L. Schmidt of the Texas experiment station to be caused by a filterable virus the cattle get from chewing putrid bones on the range. Bonemeal and salt cured the craving for bones and practically eliminated the disease.

Lessen Danger of Flu Infection Among Hogs

Roomy sheds, open to the south, especially when they are deep enough so the hogs need not lie close to the opening, when properly bedded, are about as satisfactory as anything that can be supplied for hogs in the way of cheap shelter. Colony houses, if they are available, may be used to good advantage for brood sows and other hogs during the winter months. The point is, that when hogs are supplied with good shelter where they can keep dry and not be subjected to drafts and where plenty of bedding can be supplied, there will be much less danger of flu infection than where little or no attention is paid to the housing problem.

Live Stock Hints

A good winter ration for fall pigs is one which supplies, not only the essentials of a balanced ration, but also the elements which are obtained from direct sunlight and succulent pasture during the summer.

Wintering fall pigs successfully is a real art. Keeping them well bedded and comfortable so that none of them will be overlaid on cold nights and keeping them free from mange seems to be the most important part.

Plenty of fresh water at all times, and heated artificially if possible, will do much to simplify getting a good growth on the fall pig.

Cattle feeders have learned that great weight and a frame capable of putting on great weight are not wanted by the buyers of steers.

If one is so located with regard to neighboring farms that he can allow the fall pigs the free run of the place he is pretty sure to have a good lot of pigs when spring comes.

The oldest school in England, according to a historian of medieval schools, is King's school at Canterbury, Kent, which was founded in 598, the year after St. Augustine's mission.

Acetylene Tank Blows Up, 3 Hurt

Newcastle, Pa., Nov. 23 (AP).—Three persons were injured and much property was damaged here this afternoon when an acetylene tank used by Pennsylvania railroad workmen blew up near the Pennsylvania Engine Works. Those hurt will require doctors, said. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

Windows in houses within a radius of almost a mile from the scene were shattered. The engine works were damaged by the blast.

Laying Hens Now on a Night Shift

Artificial Lights Deceive Pullets Into Increased Egg Production.

The hens that lay New York's breakfast eggs are about to go on the night shift again.

The recently introduced practice of increasing egg production by lengthening the short autumn and winter days with artificial light in the hen houses has proved so successful that it is expected to become almost universal this year among the thousands of suburban poultrymen in New Jersey, Connecticut and on Long Island.

Here Respond Profitably.

Proof that the hens respond profitably to the system of lengthening the winter days by electricity has been produced by Leslie M. Black, poultry expert of the New Jersey Agricultural college, who publishes the results of tests in the Farm Journal.

Black has tested 198 flocks of pullets over a six-month period. Of these, 45 flocks were tested without the aid of lighting and were found to average 2.0 eggs per hen. The others, tested under three different lighting systems, all ran profitably ahead of that figure.

Three Lighting Plans Used.

The three methods used to convince the hens that winter days are as long as summer ones, and so keep production artificially stimulated when prices are high, are these:

First—The evening lunch system, when the houses are lighted for an hour at night, between eight and nine, or nine and ten. Second—The morning lights plan, when the houses are lighted before dawn. Third—The use of lights both morning and night so that the length of the day is made to equal absolutely that of the night.

"This last system seems to give the best results of the three," the Farm Journal's expert reports. It produced 30.7 more eggs per pullet than when no lights were used, 6.5 more eggs than under the evening lunch plan, and 1.8 more than the morning lighting system.

Barley Produces a High Percentage of Nutrients

Barley should be more widely used as a stock feed, not only on account of its high yield per acre but also because of its nutritive value, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The only feed crop that can be compared readily with barley in farm economy is oats. Barley produces more pounds to the acre than oats and has a higher percentage of digestible nutrients. Success in feeding barley depends somewhat upon how it is fed. Barley fed whole is too coarse for best results, and if fed too finely ground is pesty and unpalatable. The best way of preparing it for live stock is to have it coarse ground or rolled, the latter way of preparation being common in the West.

Ewes Need Extra Good Care at Lambing Time

The success of the sheep flock depends largely on the management. Good feed and care materially influence the subsequent lamb crop. Pregnant ewes should be separated from the main flock and carried along in good thrifty condition until lambing time. They may be fed such succulent feeds as roots and ensilage, the latter in limited quantity, together with some alfalfa hay, for the purpose of stimulating milk production. Good water is essential during the pregnant period. Potassium iodide should be given in the drinking water twice a month or in the salt kept before the ewes at all times. Ewes in good, thrifty condition are more likely to give birth to strong vigorous lambs.

Use Bright Bindings

Library workers have found that library books often become more popular when dull colored or soiled covers are replaced with brighter bindings. A special cover, coated with a material similar to a chemical finish used on motor cars, has been introduced. It is waterproof, finger marks and stains may easily be washed off, and it can be obtained in a wide variety of colors and designs.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

STRAWBERRY MUST HAVE FERTILIZER

Apply Barnyard Manure During Winter or Spring.

Strawberries are great lovers of fertile ground and thorough tillage. These two things are all-important and both should be started long before the strawberries are planted. During the winter or early in the spring, the ground should have an application of barnyard manure. The amount to apply depends very largely on how much is available. It is hard to get on too much. Early in the spring this manure should be disked into the ground so as to get it thoroughly mixed with the soil before plowing. After plowing, apply from two hundred to four hundred pounds of acid phosphate per acre and keep the ground well harrowed until planting time. Plant only strong young plants with good white roots. A cloudy day soon after a shower is a good time to plant. Do not allow the roots to become dry while planting. While planting, remove all leaves except two or three healthy young leaves to each plant, and cut the straggly ends of the longest roots back. Press the ground firmly around the plant so there will be no air spaces around the roots. Do not set the plants too deep nor too shallow. The crown should not be buried, neither should the roots be exposed.

After planting, keep the cultivator and the hoe busy until late in the fall. Do not let the rows become too wide. Neither should the plants be too thick in the rows. Late in the summer it would pay very well to apply a light sprinkling of sulphate of ammonia around the plants and along the sides of the rows. Do this when the leaves are dry and if any of the fertilizer stays on the leaves, brush it off with a broom as it will burn. This fertilizer application is used to make good strong fruit buds for the next spring's crop. Late in the fall, after the first freeze, mulch the plants with straw. The following spring the mulch can be raked between the rows to help hold moisture and to keep the berries clean.

Prevent Winter Injury by Improved Drainage

Winter injury to the vineyard is usually associated with too much rainfall during late summer and early fall, which prevents the newly formed grape buds from reaching maturity before freezing weather sets in, say horticulturists at the experiment station at Geneva, N. Y. This is said to be especially true if the vineyard is located on poorly drained soils, and it is believed that much winter injury may be prevented by proper drainage which removes the surplus water and allows the grape tissues to harden up before cold weather.

When cultivation of the vineyard is discontinued in July or August, the weeds should be allowed to grow without cutting, so as to let the weeds utilize as much of the soil moisture as they will, say the station specialists. Green manure crops sown after the last cultivation aid in drying out the soil, provided they do not shade the ground too much. Rye, wheat, oats, barley, and buckwheat make especially good cover crops, as they shade the ground very little, while rape and cowhorn turnips are less desirable.

Some winter injury to grapes will nearly always follow low temperatures, but the extent of the injury may be materially lessened by following the practices here recommended.

Horticultural Hints

Remove all water sprouts.

Cut out the poorer of crossed and crowded branches.

Lime-sulphur may be used on all trees that are susceptible to the scale insects, but must be used before the leaf appears.

Go over the entire surface of the tree, thinning it out evenly by removing small branches and twigs that can be cut with hand shears.

Most growers who have made a study of mulching materials claim that wheat straw is about the best material to use. Of course, the chaff should be removed from this. Oats straw is also looked upon with favor, though it has a tendency to mat down.

The dormant spray for fruit is applied before the buds begin to swell on the trees. Get ready now by ordering your lime sulphur liquid. It should be diluted with eight to ten parts of water before application.

Growers find that they can get from 10 to 25 cents a bushel more for apples that are well packed instead of being just poured into the basket. Honestly facing a bushel of apples does not improve the flavor or value of the fruit but it makes a more attractive package.

Bearing Ill News

It is above all things strange to see how men bear ill news! Often the strongest of them become the weakest, while the weakest, as it were, reach up and steal strength from the gods.—Kipling.

Around the Farm

A cow must have three quarts of water for every quart of milk she produces.

The good live stock farmer shelters properly his family and his animals. Both should be comfortable at all times.

More beef breeding herds on corn belt farms, will result in a more profitable and permanent type of agriculture than is now found.

A thorough cleaning of the house and its interior fixtures is essential. Some good coal tar dip can be used effectively in this connection.

No matter whether hog cholera is known to exist or not, the farmer who raises hogs must always presume that there is a possibility of an outbreak.

The construction of expensive, elaborate poultry houses is not encouraged, but on the other hand, no farmer should consider a poultry house that is not durable and comfortable.

Light and ventilation are two essentials for contented hens and high egg production. There should be plenty of window space in the front of the house, so that the sunlight will strike all corners of the floor.

Prior to turning the ewe should be placed in a small pen and left there until the lamb is quite strong. On the other hand, if they are allowed to lamb with the flock it is almost impossible to give them the necessary attention and serious losses will often result.

Folly and Madness

Folly consists in drawing of false conclusions from just principles, by which it is distinguished from madness, which draws just conclusions from false principles.—Locke.

Four New Meanings of Words in Common Use

It is not considered complimentary to say of a woman that she is "too lady," but how many women are entitled to the name in its real sense? I do not know one, for the true meaning of "lady" is a housekeeper—a noble art that is practically extinct today.

There are about 2,000,000 splinters in Great Britain, but how many of them can split? And although every man is Mr. So-and-so, very few are entitled to the Mr. in its true meaning of master.

My grocer is certainly not an engraver, though he retains the old name in its abbreviated form; my chemist knows little or nothing of alchemy, from which his predecessors got the name of alchemist.

Costers no longer sell costard apples, some sailors have never been on a ship with sails, and the humble "navy" has long since ceased to make navigation canals. The constable is not the count of the stable, the publican is not the tax collector, and the gaffer of a mill often behaves in a way very unlike his name, which is a shortened form of grandfather. Of the thousands of clerks working today not one is a clergyman or cleric; the old name has come down from the time when the only people who could write were the clerics.—London Evening News.

Find Many Uses for Tree Bark in Africa

Tree bark is used in tropical Africa to make cloth. In days gone by this material was solely used to provide what little covering human bodies needed. In the making of the cloth the tree is stripped to a height of about ten feet. This bark stripping can be done at twelve-month intervals, the third or fourth bark making the finest cloth. The inner bark is used for the cloth, and strips from four to eight feet in length are beaten with a mallet to the thickness of heavy brown paper. It is then sun-dried, when it takes on a terra-cotta shade. Holes and flaws are patched and the cloth is made up into sheets about eight feet square. Strips of fiber from the dry stem are used as thread and the work of stitching is always undertaken by men. In addition, the bark is used for door hinges, drinking vessels, grain drums, cradles, beehives, nets, game traps, blankets, fishing lines, rope, cord and thread.

Wasting Forest Wealth

From nature the people of the United States inherited a wealth of natural resources, says the Forestry Primer of the American tree association. Many of these we have spent recklessly, because of the very immensity of them. They seemed beyond the possibility of exhaustion. The forests are one of our natural resources that we have spent with a free hand.

Lily Leland in Hollywood

By AD SCHUSTER

(Copyright.)

THE face of Lily Leland, the girl who was convinced, cried aloud for the chance to be filmed and her heart added a yearning accompaniment. Disregarding warnings that Hollywood was filled with those anxious to see stars, she packed an expensive and dazzling wardrobe and joined the potential constellation.

After that Lily walked. She walked from one office to another, up flights of steps and down again, and came to consider it a great triumph when, upon rare occasions, she was able to pass an office boy guarding the wicket. Lily persisted. She pressed the magnificent wardrobe, ate in the cafeterias, and saw the time when her slender store of savings would be gone.

It was strange they did not recognize her beauty, the girl told herself. They did not even seem impressed with the clippings which related the easy manner in which she had captured first prize in the three-county beauty contest back home. Directors and those others who aided in the selection of casts, she decided, were a hard lot. "Some day they would be sorry," Lily listed a number for revenge. They would come to her begging that she sign a contract and she, a famous actress, would lift a penciled brow in amazement. Then she would recall the days when she had made her modest request for one of the smallest parts. Her maid would open the door for them to depart and she would turn away. In the meantime what could she do to earn a little money? It began to look as if she would have to go home.

Lily counted her money, balanced it with the cost of board and lipsticks, and decided she would have to surrender. There was enough for a ticket home. With her mind made up the world grew brighter. Lily decided she would have one last day, seeing this country as a visitor and not as a girl seeking a job. So she packed her swimming suit in her vanity case and went to the country. Many a time as she walked the streets those hills had called to her. Now she could walk under the trees, swim in the creek, and pretend that she was not sorry she must return home defeated.

In the heavy shades of the grove Lily slipped into her suit. For a half hour she splashed in the creek and then, dripping and a picture of health and beauty, emerged for her clothes. They were gone. In the sand she read the story—a story printed in the shoemarks of a small boy. It was a good eight blocks to the car line and Lily would not get on a car wearing a bathing suit. She wondered how far it was to her home, or where she could go. Maybe the boy would come back with her clothes. She called to him, she wept, and she stamped her feet. The boy and the clothes were gone.

And so as the sun was setting Lily Leland, an unwilling bathing beauty on parade, walked down the lane and into the outskirts of the city. She turned her head neither to right nor left. In time some one would stop her, a policeman maybe, and she would explain.

Some one laughed and called after her.

"Toodles!" the man yelled and the girl blushed and hastened on.

"Oh, I say, I really thought you were Toodles," the man had overheard her and was apologizing.

"You see, Toodles would do such a thing and you—that is, all except your face, you look just like her."

"I'm not Toodles—and they stole my clothes," Lily was ready to cry.

"Wait a minute," the man signaled to his companions who drove up in a car. At the sight of an elderly woman in the rear seat, Lily's hopes returned.

Dressed in borrowed clothes and in the home of her rescuer, Lily listened to an amazing proposal.

"You see you look just like Toodles DeMont. You know Toodles in the Triumph Comedies. I'm figuring, if you can swim, we'll use you as her double in the next picture, for Toodles can't swim a stroke and the script calls for a lot."

What did she steal my clothes,"

Lily reflected as she accepted, "Toodles as a job."

Learn to Fight Locusts

Big predatory locusts, that prey on their own fellow-insects instead of on growing grain crops, are being tried in Greece as one means of combating the pest of ordinary locusts now threatening the fields, according to word received from Athens. These modern descendants of one of the plagues of Egypt have been causing serious losses to Greek agriculture during the last few years and the ministry of agriculture is preparing to spend 24,000,000 drachmas (approximately $1,200,000) in a campaign against them.

Fresh Eggs

Eggs all hatched together in a string like Christmas tree ornaments started Clifton W. Manservant of Union, Maine, when he peered into one of his pullets' nests. There were three eggs joined together and collectively they were nearly five inches long. But the ambitious pullet, in laying her freak egg, overlooked something. Not one of them had a yolk.—Indianapolis News.

First Antarctic Airplane Flight

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.)—Radio messages sent from the Antarctic by Sir Hubert Wilkins today mark the first airplane flight ever made over that region.

The message, addressed to Ole Hattum, N. D., father of the late Ben Hattum, pilot of the expedition, read:

"We made first Antarctic flight. Regards, Wilkins."

A second message was received by Wright Aeronautical Corporation.

The Wilkins expedition, the object of which is to study weather conditions and to locate suitable places in Antarctica for meteorological stations, left New York September 2. They were bound for Deception Island, a deserted bit of land sixty miles off the coast of Graham Land, south of Cape Horn, the southern extremity of South America.

From a base either on Graham or on Deception Island they hoped to make flights of exploration eastward to Graham Land and west to the South Sea. The latter flights would be made from the base of the expedition. The message from Wilkins was sent via Port Stanley in the Falkland Islands.

Ensemble Fashion for Evening Wear

Hats and Coats Included in Smart Innovations of Present Season.

Now comes the evening ensemble, even with hats and coats. The announcement from Paris that these accessories were to be added to the formal costume, was rather startling and at first not wholly credited. An ensemble on this very fine, however, was presented with complete success in one of the smart fashion reviews in New York, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times. Models, dressed in handsome fabrics and sheer stuffs for a formal occasion, were wearing smart evening "hats" made of rich passementerie, gold with pearls, strass and pearls and finely embroidered hats of all kinds in natural tints and in the pinks, blues, lavenders and shell greens in which they are now to be had.

Also, they wore, in the most nonchalant manner, short, decolette, sleeveless "coats" over evening gowns—of which these tiny jackets were a part. The ensembles were artistic and complete and the details so subtly worked out that the effect was the reverse of startling and altogether charming.

This latest phase of unusual combinations in evening dress was but one of many. Another is the bolero. Whatever the model, the bolero usually takes a bolero form in many of the gowns. This feature in last year, which had its first success in afternoon dress, has now appeared in the bolero stuffs and most delicate treatments in the sort of costume that will be worn for dining at a restaurant, the play, or for the smart supper dances.

The bolero is made in practical jacket form and may be removed. Its most important adaptation is in the decolette bodice in which it is seen in a variety of designs. One was shown in a gown of black point d'esprit, which is exceedingly fashionable this season and is combined with wide bands of black chantilly lace over shell-pink chiffon. The waist was fitted, cut round and deep, lower at the back than in the front. Net fastened to each shoulder strap had the appearance of being dropped to fall in graceful folds between, ending just above the hips. The arrangement was the same, back and front, and the curving lines were repeated in the skirt by the use of bands of the lace. In both bolero and skirt the dip of the drape was longer at the back.

Girdle Concealed by Bolero.
In another evening gown of sea-green chiffon the bodice was long and soft. In front, and there was a girdle, which was concealed at the back of the bolero. It swung free, with considerable fullness. The entire bodice was dotted with rhinestones that looked like dew drops on the sheer fabric. The skirt had a deep circular ruffle, finished in intricate lines rippling about the bottom and converging toward the middle front, where were two large motifs of rhinestones between the belt line and the knee.

In a delightful evening costume, which the designer describes as "a fantasy in lace," a bolero is used as a part of the gown at the back, where it is added to the bodice as a flounce, starting in a narrow plaited fall on each shoulder and cascading to a deep point. As one views this model from the back it appears to be just one graceful blot from the top of the low decolette neck line to the very tip of the skirt, which is a two-flounce model all but touching the floor. The skirt is just high enough to show the jeweled heels of slippers of pale green crepe de chine, which are ornamented with large square rhinestone buckles. The face of this model is draped to a high luster and veils a turquoise blue slip.

Lucien Lelong introduces one of his versions of the bolero in a subtle manner, with tulle in six layers not ruf-

Peach Bone

It was the first time in her young life that a whole peach had been given Mary Catherine. She ate it with pleasure, then brought back the seed. "Mother," she said, "I ate all but the bony part."

And, as is usual, but not. This admits of treatment as if it were a heavy silk or satin. The skirt is fitted snugly to the hips to keep the silhouettes slim and flares widely at the bottom. It is high in front, somewhat longer at the back and very long at each side. The plain tulle surface is saved from dullness with a large antique buckle of brilliants, which holds in front a crepe de chine girdle dropped at the back to accentuate the bolero bodice. This is detached at the lower edge and then caught under in the manner of a lasso.

Lace Over Taffeta

Nicole Groult, who never strains at effect, achieves chic in an evening gown of black chantilly lace over black taffeta, in which the silk is not merely a slip but a part of the creation. In this the sleeveless bodice of taffeta is cut square in the neck, and the lace which covers it as a blouse is draped like a scarf from one shoulder and carried across the back, forming a bolero, which drops over a swathing girdle of the silk. This is drawn toward the front and gathered into a bow, with long ends on one hip. The upper part of the skirt is made of lace, being slightly gathered across the back and forming a panel in front. The bottom flounce is gathered full and flares sharply over an under-flounce of the taffeta.

One of the extremes in evening dress shown this season is an original model from a prominent New York house. This is an artistic creation of black tulle which presents a silhouette of five rounded tiers. The gown has a simple bodice which disappears under a belt of black velvet ribbon embroidered in brilliants, with up-turned ends crossed in front. This outline is repeated in each of the three flounces of the skirt, which ends just below the knees in front and drops low at the sides, one side being longer than the other. The bodice of this gown is cut loose at each side of the belt and hangs in the form of a bolero at the back. It has a strip of the same velvet ribbon embroidered to match the belt over each shoulder.

The extreme of the bolero mode is the side girdle with which the hips are swathed in some of the gowns, the bodice being lifted to blouse at the back. This subtle and sophisticated design is being adopted by all the prominent French couturiers in one way or another. Louisboulanger makes a long, slim evening gown of Japanese green noncrushable velvet, with a bodice that has a slender vest of silver tinsel. This is crushed about the waist and hips, meeting in front. The skirt, which is slashed at the bottom, dips low at the back and has graduated panels at the sides, is attached with a shirred heading and lifted sharply in the middle.

Uses Neptune Green Moire

Magdalene Des Hayes, whose creations never vary from the thoroughly feminine, makes a formal evening gown of neptune green moire. In this design the drape is gracefully swathed with a forward movement. It is drawn low about the back and caught in front with an adornment of emeralds and brilliants. The V-shaped decolette neck line is finished with a similar ornament, and the skirt, of moire, untrimmed, is gathered full to hang low at the back, and lifted high in front. A Paton evening gown of gold chiffon is made with two circular flounces over gold metal tulle, the material drawn low about the hips and lifted in front where it is caught with a buckle of yellow sapphires, through which is drawn brown velvet ribbon in long loops and streamers.

One other distinctive design for evening is the gown of two colors and two materials. This is necessarily less formal and less elegant than the gown made all of one fabric, but the models shown from both French and American designers present a number of elaborate creations ideal for dinner and theater and for any informal evening affair. In such gowns the skirt is usually made of velvet, moire or satin and the attached bodice of satin, chiffon or metal brocade. The materials are plain and usually embroidered or veiled with lace, or else it is a beaded sheer fabric.

Expresses Incredulosity

The expression "Tell it to the marines" carries the idea that the speaker is incredulous. It is supposed to have originated with seamen who considered marines landlubbers, and therefore easy to fool.

Agricultural Notes

Fences and gates tell what kind of folks live with them.

It doesn't cost any more to build a good looking building than the other kind.

If good results are to be expected with the 1928 lamb crop, the breed ewes must be handled properly.

Sweet clover should be sown broadcast on a well-settled seedbed at the rate of 15 pounds of good seed per acre.

Good, clean range will be of little value in preventing disease trouble as long as the ground adjoining the house is dirty.

Wherever cholera occurs it must be presumed that the disease has been carried to the hogs in question because there is no other way for it to reach the herd.

Four or five weeks before lambing each ewe should have one-half pound daily by weight of the following grain mixture: Corn, six parts; oats or bran, three parts, and linseed oil meal, one part. After lambing, the ration should be doubled.

Corn belt farmers are confronted with the problem of utilizing the wreckage produced on the farms as well as the corn produced. There is no more economical and desirable method of doing this than establishing a herd of breeding cows on the farm.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 23 (AP).—The stock market closed a complete somersault on a record-breaking turnover today. A tremendous accumulation of overnight buying orders sent prices of many active issues soaring 5 to 20 points in the early trading, but a sharp selling movement just before midday cut down or wiped out many of the early gains, and sent a number of stocks 1 to 5 points below yesterday's final quotations. A brisk recovery was in progress in the early afternoon.

Despite the elimination of sales from the tape, the ticker fell 45 minutes behind the market by 1 o'clock. So great was the congestion of work in many of the largest brokerage houses that the governors of the Exchange met at noon and voted to suspend business on Saturday.

The midday selling movement was inspired by reports that an "important statement" would be given out by the Federal Reserve Bank at 1 p. m. Many traders apparently feared that another warning on credit inflation was coming, and they threw stocks overboard, but the statement proved to be merely the election of a new governor of the bank to succeed the late Benjamin Strong.

The market's quick reaction indicated the nervous tension created by the recent spectacular advance in prices. With the market closed tomorrow much of the day's selling also represented week-end profit taking which ordinarily is distributed over two days.

The wild upswing at the opening of the market, in which several blocks of 10,000 to 40,000 shares changed hands at rising prices in the face of a record-breaking increase in brokers' loans, again demonstrated the recent tendency of the market to do the unexpected. It was followed by a heavy wave of selling, and that is what many traders looked for this morning. Instead prices bounded upward, and just when they looked as they were going "through the roof," they suddenly broke in dramatic fashion.

Case Threshing Machine soared 30 1/2 points to a new top at 515 and then dropped to 500, and Wright Aeronautical ran up 19 points to 239 and fell back to 264. Curtiss dropped from 164 1/2 to 153 1/2, Victor Talking Machine from 158 1/2 to 147 1/2, and Radio from 379 to 361. Montgomery-Ward dropped 12 1/2 points below last night's close and Vanadium Steel 5, General Motors ran up 5 1/2 points to 214 1/2 and slipped back to 212 1/2.

New high records again were established by wide assortment of issues, the list including Andes, Kennecott, Inspiration and Cerro de Pasco Coppers, Standard Oil of California, Marland, Superior Oil, Packard and Nash Motors, New Haven, Erie, Kansas City Southern and Pere Marquette railroads.

Did Not Like "Aida"

As an example of genuine impudence a letter written to Giuseppe Verdi takes the cake. The letter, which is included in the Verdi collection recently published in Italy, includes one replying to a young man who demanded repayment of the expenses he incurred in going to see "Aida" when it was produced in 1872. He abused the opera roundly, prophesying that it would "rot away in the library," and asked for a sum covering his train fare, his seat, and his supper! And Verdi actually paid it, exciting a promise, however, that the young man would never attend another opera of his.

Straw Through Board

The energy with which a body strikes an object determines the piercing effect and damaging effect of the body. Energy is measured by the product of the mass of the body and the square of the velocity. Thus a very small body moving with a high velocity can possess just as much kinetic energy as a large body moving slowly. The straw driven by a cyclone is hurled through the air at an enormous velocity and expends its energy in going through the wood. This happens so quickly that the inertia of the straw keeps it from crumpling up before piercing.

Love of Applause

Human applause is, by a worldly man, reckoned not only among the luxuries of life, but among articles of the first necessity. An undue desire to obtain it has certainly its foundation in vanity, and it is one of our grand errors to reckon vanity a trivial fault. Reputation being in itself so very desirable or good, those who actually possess it, and in some sense deserve to possess it, are apt to make it their standard, and to rest in it as their supreme aim and end.—Hannah More.

Autoists Catch Ostriches

Catching ostriches by automobile is being tried in the Arabian desert, following the bagging of two birds in a day by a party recently. At first the birds outdistanced the cars, but they soon tired, and as the auto approached alongside, a hunter stepped on the running board, grasped one bird by the neck and pulled it into the car. It was too exhausted to struggle. The companion ostrich was captured in the same manner, and four others were shot.

Chew Well and See Well

Sir Arthur Keith, the great British anatomist, says you must chew well if you would see well. He claims that decreased exercise of the jaws, and not eye-strain, is causing short sight. Because of the soft foods of modern diet, he says, use of the jaws has diminished, the shape of the face is changing and the eye sockets are lengthening, thus elongating the eyeballs and weakening vision.—Pathfinder Magazine.

LIVE STOCK NEWS

FEED POTATOES TO LIVE STOCK

Potatoes have been successfully used in fattening rations for both cattle and lambs and may also be fed in limited quantities to pigs and horses. Farmers who have a surplus of potatoes this year may find it profitable to feed them to live stock.

In the tests that were conducted at the Colorado agricultural experiment station, potatoes proved to be particularly valuable fed with grain and alfalfa to fattening lambs. A ration consisting of grain, alfalfa and two pounds daily of chopped raw potatoes showed a feed replacement value of $2.54 per ton for the potatoes used. Fed to fattening beef calves at the rate of nine pounds per head daily, the raw potatoes had a feed replacement value of $5 per ton. Potato silage made by cutting the potatoes into a silo with a 2 per cent addition of cornmeal gave practically the same net results. The only advantage gained in ensiling the potatoes was the ability to store the silage for an indefinite period.

Starch is the chief constituent of the dry matter of potatoes and there is very little crude protein present, consequently a good protein feed is necessary to properly balance any ration where potatoes are used.

Raw potatoes may be safely fed to live stock if the daily ration is not too large and the feeding period not too extensive, according to E. J. Maynard of the Colorado experiment station. They are best not fed, however, to pregnant stock on account of their acid taste and tendency to increase the flow of digestive juices in the stomach and intestine.

Raw potatoes should be gradually introduced into the ration and if taken away, this should be done by degrees.

Feeds, such as beet molasses and beet tops which tend to irritate the digestive tract, should not be fed at the same time. Although potatoes should be chopped up, they may also be fed whole. If fed whole, it has been found worth while to feed them to cattle in low bunk under a pole or beam. This method tends to prevent choking.

A low-priced root cutter, either hand or motor driven, is available, which has given good success at the experiment station.

Cattle are least sensitive to raw potatoes. Large quantities have been fed in fattening rations with no bad effects. It is safest, however, not to feed too great an amount.

Sheep also do well on raw potatoes. It is best to feed lambs not over two pounds per head daily.

Horses are more easily affected by raw potatoes but small quantities, three to five pounds per head per day, may be used.

It is usually better to cook or steam potatoes for pigs. Experiments show that about 425 pounds of cooked potatoes equal 100 pounds of corn in feeding value if fed in a properly balanced ration. Raw potatoes proved to be only two-thirds as valuable when fed to pigs. If cooked the potatoes should be salted and the water in which they are cooked should be thrown away.

Blood Separators for Cholera Serum Useful

Production of clear anti-hog cholera serum for use in preventing the disease which has cost American farmers $20,000,000 annually for the past 40 years has recently been materially cheapened by the use of centrifugal blood separators. Not only do these separators reduce the cost of the product, but they also increase the percentage of recovery of serum and eliminate waste.

After the hyper-immunized pig has been bled, one separator removes the heavy corpuscles from the blood and another takes out the light, fatty substances. It is necessary to remove both the heavy and light material to produce a clear, colorless serum.

The blood separators used are similar to the ordinary centrifugal cream separator. Similar separators are also used to clean and reclaim used oil from automobile and tractor crankcases.

Lambs Neglected

Lambs are often considered the main source of income from the farm flock, but they are frequently undervalued and little attention given from the time of birth until they are sold. If they have done well and made fair gains the seller is satisfied. When lambs are thus thought of as the main income from the flock it is evident that extra care and thought must be given to them if greater returns are to be received.

Good Beef Calves

Mating an Aberdeen-Angus bull with Holstein cows would result in a very good grade of beef calves. The Wisconsin experiment station has conducted two trials in which they have used groups of steers representing high-grade Aberdeen-Angus and cross-bred Aberdeen-Angus-Holstein. The results have shown quite favorably for the cross-bred steers. Prof. J. G. Fuller at Madison, Wis., would be happy to send you a copy of these reports.

Scour Desert for Horse Thieves

Jornado del Muerto, N. M., Nov. 22. (By.)—This desert region, which Spanish centuries ago called "the highway of death" was being scoured by posse today for a band of horse thieves which sacked ranch houses of guns, ammunition, clothing and provisions during an orgy of lawlessness lasting several days. The best horses were stolen from several ranches.

In a near desolate area far from any towns and without communication except by messenger, the depredations of the band did not become known until yesterday. Posse, headed by three sheriffs who served their law enforcement apprenticeship when horse and cattle rustling was a profitable occupation on the southwestern frontier, took up the hunt at once.

All crossings of the Rio Grande were under guard, while the entire white sands district was being combed.

There is no water in the desert. Jornada del Muerto, which fact explains its naming by ancient dons who avoided the region in their far-distant travels from Mexico to Santa Fe, N. M.

Has Legs to Spare

An argument for the hairlessness of the centipede is deduced from the fact that when the creature is grasped it does not try to defend itself, but seeks rather to escape. It often does so by "leaving its legs behind." That is, the creature automatically throws off a number of legs that have been caught by the enemy and limp off on the remaining ones. It can easily spare a dozen or more of its thirty legs, for the lost members are replaced.

BOY SCOUT HEROES GIVE THEIR LIVES FOR OTHERS

Families Awarded Gold Medals for Youths Who Made the Supreme Sacrifice.

New York.—In attempting rescues of drowning persons three Boy Scout heroes made the supreme sacrifice, it was announced at the national offices of the Boy Scouts of America in New York, through the Boy Scout national court of honor, of which Daniel Carter Beard is chairman.

The three scout heroes whose lives were lost were Guy Atwood Ruggles of Tecumseh, Okla.; Curtis Larsen of Warren, Pa., and Charles McKnett of Huntington Park, Calif.

Awards of gold honor medals to the parents of these three boys and to seven other scouts who endangered their lives in making rescues, were made by the national court of honor. Certificates of heroism also were issued to many scouts whose scout training made it possible to save the lives of others without grave danger to themselves.

Scout Ruggles was drowned June 10, 1923, in rescuing Miss Jewell Caler of Lindsay, Okla., from a treacherous stream near David, Okla. Ruggles, a life scout, twenty-one years old, became exhausted and sank after getting Miss Caler to shallow water. Sacrificing his own life in a successful effort to save his younger sister, Scout Curtis Maxwell Larsen, thirteen, of Troop No. 4, Warren, Pa., was drowned in the Allegheny river at Big Bend on July 16, 1927. The scout was rowing a boat in which were also two of his sisters. The younger fell overboard. Scout Larsen, an inexperienced swimmer, nevertheless dove into the water and brought his sister to the boat. He sank and drowned.

Scout Charles Edward McKnett, twelve, of Troop No. 17, Huntington Park, Calif., attempted to rescue his younger brother, Robert, nine, from a deep pool below the falls of Fish canyon in the San Bernardino mountains, on June 3, 1928. The McKnett family, consisting of the father and mother and three boys, were on a picnic at Fish Canyon. One of the boys, Robert, plunged into the pool and Charles and a younger brother arrived. Robert was seized with cramps and sank. Charles directed a still younger brother to run for help and leaped in. He could not break the drowning grip of his brother and was pulled to the bottom.

Turkish Women Slow to Adopt Short Skirts

Constantinople.—Turkish women are not adopting the new regulations in respect to short skirts and bobbed hair as readily as was expected. Although many a close-fitting little cloche hat and many a pair of silk stockings are seen on the streets of Constantinople, the more conservative women, both here and in the smaller towns, are resisting the innovations stubbornly.

Recently Kinzim Pasha, the president of the Angora assembly, felt the necessity of issuing a series of sharp rebukes to his countrywomen.

"To let bobbed hair grow out again," is a retrograde step, a backward movement from the way of progress. Long ago men got rid of their long locks; it is now women's turn to do the same."

The same applied to short skirts, he further stated.

"No woman today can sweep the streets with long skirts without being ridiculous. They are in no way fitted to the structure of the feminine body and I see no reason to hide the legs in a full and shapeless bundle."

Silk head scarfs also came in for their share of criticism. The pasha announced firmly that western hats were far more becoming. Scarfs were like ugly nightcaps, he asserted.

The Pig, Not the Cat, Came Back This Time

Brentwood, N. H.—The cat comes back, but so does the pig. Not long ago Ray Pike sold a young pig to a man who lives two miles away. The pig was put in a bag and carried to his new home, which was a perfectly good one, but the little pig was not contented. He got out of his pen, traveled about a bit and two days was back in his old pen. He showed all sorts of affection when he saw his mother, and she was just about as glad to see him, which is not always the case when pigs are separated for even a short time.

K. H. S. Pupils to Stage "Clarence"

Kingston High School Athletic Association will present "Clarence", a comedy by Booth Tarkington, in the school auditorium Friday night, December 14. Miss Anne Byrne, teacher of elocution at Kingston High School, is coaching the play which is expected to surpass all previous dramatic successes of the Athletic Association.

Pupils of Kingston High School are eagerly awaiting the staging of the play. Those not of the school who have witnessed past performances in the auditorium are also anxious to see "Clarence" for they feel that it will afford plenty of enjoyment as other comedies presented by Kingston High School casts have. Miss Byrne is noted for her ability as a coach and her handling of the cast will add much toward the calibre of the play, it is expected.

Tickets are now being sold by members of the Athletic Council. The sale is expected to reach large numbers in a short time, owing to the eagerness of many to see "Clarence".

Shoe Man Inherits Ancient Hammer

Fenton, Ohio.—O. S. Wilson, a South side shoe dealer of this village, owns a hammer with a history. Documentary evidence in Wilson's possession states that the hammer was first brought to this country from Scotland in 1700 by Jesse Justice, who used it in the construction of some of Philadelphia's early frame buildings. At Justice's death the hammer was bequeathed to his son, and descending from one generation to the next, it eventually came into its present owner's possession about one month ago. The handle, undoubtedly made from a hickory sapling, was placed in the hammer 85 years ago.

TELLS DYSPETICS WHAT TO EAT

Strict diets are often unnecessary in stomach trouble. While some foods do produce excessive acidity and many stomachs do generate "too much acid" causing gas, sourness, bloating and after-eating pains, the trouble may be safely and quickly corrected by the use of a good alkaline. Bisurated Magnesia—powder or tablets—is ideal for this purpose. Just a little after meals neutralizes all the excess acid, prevents souring, breaks up gas and ends indigestion. Favorite foods no longer upset stomach and digestion in easy and painless. It will do all this for you or money back. Reliable druggists everywhere sell Bisurated Magnesia with this guarantee.
